

Greetings from the Center for Global Education and Experience at Augsburg University. We are pleased that your student will be a participant in our study abroad program in Southern Africa this coming semester.

You can find information about the program on the pre-departure website. In particular please note the information about communication (telephone numbers, mailing addresses, etc.).

Accommodations

While in South Africa, students will stay together in guest houses and hotels. In Namibia, there will be one-week homestay in the city of Windhoek, but for most of the semester they will live in our study center. A significant number of class sessions are conducted in the study center as well. We have a competent, well-experienced staff in Windhoek who will provide excellent leadership during the program. All have been vaccinated for COVID-19, we practice strict health protocols, and can provide quarantine or isolation facilities if needed.

Safety and Security

Two concerns that are frequently expressed when it is learned that the students will travel to Namibia and the Republic of South Africa are health and safety. Please be assured that the safety of our program participants is of the highest priority, and we monitor the situation in southern Africa even carefully. Basic tips on personal safety and health are provided on the pre-departure website, and more detailed information is provided to students during orientation in Namibia. Additionally, we keep a very close watch on the situation in Southern Africa. The Center for Global Education and Experience has permanent staff, consultants, and numerous resource persons in the region with whom we keep in close contact.

We also receive regular safety and security reports from the Overseas Security Advisory Council (OSAC) and we check international travel warnings and public safety announcements, provided by the U.S. Department of State on a weekly basis.

Additionally, our medical and emergency services provider, Educational and Institutional Insurance Administrators, Inc., (EIIA) sends us regular international security reports and provides us with pre-trip resources.

Over the past 43 years CGEE has coordinated more than 1,500 semester and short term programs around the world for over 20,000 participants, and has therefore gained a great deal of experience traveling in these regions. We would not hesitate to cancel or to re-route any portion of the program if we it unsafe to travel there.

Health Issues

As far as health is concerned, it is not uncommon for a long-term visitor to have a bout or two of diarrhea sometime during the stay. This is more likely to occur in rural areas than in the capital.

Reasonable precautions in eating and drinking can minimize the occurrence of this discomfort. Our staff will instruct the students about safe eating.

In the case of a more serious illness, there are good doctors and hospitals in Namibia and South Africa if a situation calls for professional health care.

The experience your student is about to have is a very intense and challenging one. For many students, the study abroad experience stimulates a great deal of reflection about personal values and life directions, and you may notice some changes upon their return home. Your student will likely want to share all the adventures with you and may, at times, find it difficult to communicate the intensity of the experience. An accepting and open environment will make it easier to share and integrate the experience.
