BIO

BIO102
The Biological World
4 Semester Credits
The basic concepts of biology pertaining to both plants and animals are emphasized. The nature of science and the approach used by scientists to gather and analyze data and propose and test hypotheses are considered. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Does not apply to the major or minor.)
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Everyday Math), MAT103(Everyday Math), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

BIO102L
The Biological World Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): BIO102(The Biological World) concurrent registration is required

BIO103
Human Anatomy and Physiology
4 Semester Credits
A survey of the structure and function of the human body. (Three hours lecture, three hours laboratory. A student may not receive credit for both BIO 121 and 103. Does not apply to the major or minor.) Students are strongly encouraged to take CHM 102 or another chemistry course before taking this class.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of HPE104(Components of Fitness Training), MUS101(Materials of Music I), MUS111(Aural Skills I)

BIO103L
Human Anatomy and Physiology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): BIO103(Human Anatomy and Physiology) concurrent registration is required

BIO118
Environmental Biology
4 Semester Credits
Analyze the most important issues in environmental biology with special emphasis on biodiversity, drawing particularly from examples in Mexico. Students will learn about theoretical and applied issues regarding the ecological framework of tropical America through lectures, required readings, fieldwork, and lab work. This course may be used as a substitute to meet the ENV 120 requirement in the ENV major, and meets the Natural Sciences LAF.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): None

Environmental Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): BIO118(Environmental Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO121

Human Biology
4 Semester Credits

An introduction to basic biological principles with a human perspective and application. Includes discussion of the molecular and cellular basis of life, genetics and genetic disease, selected organ systems and disease, and the sustainability of life on Earth. (Three hours lecture, one three-hour lab. A student may not receive credit for both BIO 121 and 103. Does not apply to the major or minor in biology. Students are strongly encouraged to take CHM 102 before taking this class.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): None

BIO150

Introductory Biology Workshop
2 Semester Credits

An elective workshop for students concurrently enrolled in BIO 151 Introductory Biology. Students will explore topics covered in BIO 151 in more depth using AVID-based strategies for succeeding in college-level biology courses. P/N grading only.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology) concurrent registration is required, CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

BIO151

Introductory Biology
4 Semester Credits

First of a two-semester sequence. An introduction to biology for science majors, including cell and molecular biology, energy metabolism, genetics. BIO 151 and 152 must be taken in sequence except by permission of instructor. (Three hours of lecture, three hours laboratory, some Saturday field trips.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

BIO151L

Introductory Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Introductory Cellular Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO255
Genetics
4 Semester Credits

A study of the principles of heredity. The course integrates classical transmission genetics, molecular genetics, and genomics. Special topics will include epigenetics, developmental genetics, and human disease genetics. Contemporary genetic model systems will be utilized in laboratory experiments. (Three hours of lecture, four hours of laboratory.)

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT248(Biostatistics), MPL(Math Placement Group 4), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity), CHM116(General Chemistry II)

BIO361

Plant Biology

4 Semester Credits

A survey of the diversity and evolution of algae and plants. Topics on plant anatomy, physiology, phylogeny, ecological and economic importance, and plant-microbe interactions are integrated throughout. (Three hours of lecture, four hours of laboratory.)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO361L

Plant Biology Lab

0 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO361(Plant Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO369

Biochemistry

4 Semester Credits

The course addresses the chemical structure and function of the major biological macromolecules. Key topic areas are protein structure and function, enzyme mechanisms, thermodynamics, intermediary metabolism, and metabolic regulation. (Three hours lecture, four hours laboratory.)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO215(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Biostatistics), MAT248(Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); CHM351(Organic Chemistry I)

BIO473
Animal Physiology
4 Semester Credits
A study of digestion, respiration, circulation, excretion, movement, and sensory perception as well as neural and hormonal control of these functions, emphasizing vertebrates. (Three hours of lecture, four hours of laboratory.)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO215(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT248(Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I)

BIO473L
Animal Physiology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO473(Animal Physiology) concurrent registration is required

BIO474
Developmental Biology
4 Semester Credits
A study of development from the embryonic to adult stages. The course will focus on the physiological, molecular, and morphological changes that occur during development. Additional topics to be covered will include evolutionary developmental biology (evo devo), teratology, stem cells, regeneration, and cell death. (Three hours of lecture, four hours of laboratory.)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO215(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO474L
Developmental Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None

BUS200
Exploring Business as a Vocation
4 Semester Credits
This course is intended to introduce you, the student, to the possibility of pursuing a career in business as a vocational calling. In this course you will be exposed to the key areas of business operations including: management, marketing, management information systems/technology, finance, accounting, and international business.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None
BUS
BUS242
Principles of Management
4 Semester Credits
Development of the theory of management, organization, staffing, planning, and control. The nature of authority, accountability, and responsibility; analysis of the role of the professional manager.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

BUS254
Entrepreneurship
4 Semester Credits
The process of transforming an idea into an organization that can market this idea successfully. Examines the construction of a viable business plan with attention to the resources needed for success.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

BUS295

BUS340
Human Resource Management
4 Semester Credits
Personnel function in business, acquisition, and utilization of human resources; desirable working relationships; effective integration of the worker with the goals of the firm and society.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of BUS200(Exploring Business as a Vocation), BUS242(Principles of Management)
International Business
4 Semester Credits
This course views international business from a global perspective, including views of the U.S. government and perspectives of foreign governments. Each topic is supported with real-life case studies.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ECO112(Principles of Macroeconomics), ECO113(Principles of Microeconomics); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of BUS200(Exploring Business as a Vocation), BUS242(Principles of Management), MKT252(Principles of Marketing)

CHM

CHM102
Chemistry for Changing Times
4 Semester Credits
Designed for the liberal arts student. Emphasis is upon developing basic chemistry concepts using examples primarily from inorganic chemistry. Does not count toward a chemistry major or minor. CHM 102 includes a lab section.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Everyday Math), MAT103(Everyday Math), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

CHM102L
Chemistry for Changing Times Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): CHM102(Chemistry for Changing Times) concurrent registration is required

CHM115
General Chemistry I
4 Semester Credits
This is the entry course for chemistry and related science majors, including biology and physics. Course topics include an introduction to matter and measurements, chemical equations, stoichiometry, energetics, electronic structure, and bonding theory. QF course. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. High school chemistry recommended. Fall and Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

CHM115L
General Chemistry I Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): CHM115(General Chemistry I) concurrent registration is required

CHM116
General Chemistry II
4 Semester Credits
A continuation of Chemistry 115. Emphasis on equilibrium and solution chemistry including kinetics and electrochemistry. QF course. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Spring and Summer)
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): CHM115(General Chemistry I)

CHM367
Properties of Polymers
4 Semester Credits
Presents polymer chemistry as an interdisciplinary chemistry relying on the organic, analytical, and physical chemistry prerequisites to unfold the details of macromolecules. Spring, odd years)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM362(Chemical Thermodynamics, Statistical Mechanics, and Kinetics), CHM368(Quantum Chemistry, Molecular Structure, and Spectroscopy); CHM352(Organic Chemistry II)

CHM368
Quantum Chemistry, Molecular Structure, and Spectroscopy
4 Semester Credits
Studies fundamental theoretical concepts of physical chemistry including: quantum mechanics with molecular structure, spectroscopy, and interactions applications. (Three one-hour lectures, one four-hour laboratory).

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CHM116(General Chemistry II), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT146(Calculus II), PHY121(General Physics I), PHY122(General Physics II)

Prerequisite(s): CHM368(Quantum Chemistry, Molecular Structure, and Spectroscopy) concurrent registration is required

CHM370
BioOrganic Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
The study of chemistry in biological systems is one of five core areas of chemistry: inorganic, organic, physical, analytical, and biological, all exquisitely expressed in living organisms. Relationships between chemical structure, bond strengths and resulting physical/chemical properties, acid-base and metal-catalyzed/assisted reactions, kinetics/thermodynamics, and redox processes are studied in the context of information storage, transmission, expression, and control.

Prerequisite(s): CHM464 (Advanced Organic Chemistry) concurrent registration is required

CHM470
Principles of Medicinal Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
Medicinal chemistry examines the organic chemistry of drug design and drug action. Students study the mechanisms of drug transport across biological membranes, absorption, distribution, and drug excretion; the relationship between structure and activity; molecular recognition process in drug-receptor interactions; enzyme mechanisms; and the metabolic pathways by which drugs are detoxified. Also studied are the concepts used in the design of therapeutic substances. A prior course in biochemistry is recommended. (Spring, even years)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM352 (Organic Chemistry II)

CHM481
Instrumental Analysis
4 Semester Credits
Emphasis on instrumental methods of analysis. Atomic, molecular, and electron spectroscopy, chromatography, electroanalytical, and surface analysis methods are covered.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM353 (Quantitative Analytical Chemistry)

CHM481L
Instrumental Analysis Lab

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM481 (Advanced Analytical Chemistry) concurrent registration is required

CHM482
Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
Study of inorganic substances and their reactions using electrostatic and molecular orbital models. Reactivity and bonding in coordination, cluster, and organometallic compounds are considered. The laboratory consists of preparations using a variety of techniques. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM362(Chemical Thermodynamics, Statistical Mechanics, and Kinetics), CHM368(Quantum Chemistry, Molecular Structure, and Spectroscopy); CHM352(Organic Chemistry II)

CHM497
Introduction to Chemistry Research
0 Semester Credits
Chemistry majors planning research careers need research experience before graduation that may be obtained by working on a summer research project (not counted as a course) or by research participation during the academic year (that may be counted as a course). Cooperative education is an excellent opportunity to be involved in industrial research projects.

COM

COM111
Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
The course focuses on speech preparation, organization, audience analysis, style, listening, and overcoming speech fright. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit. (Fall, spring)
Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM112
Contest Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
Theory and practice of preparing speeches for delivery in formal and contest situations. Students are expected to attend three interscholastic speech tournaments and compete in at least two of the following: informative speaking, persuasive speaking, speaking to entertain, and/or communication analysis. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM115
Scientific and Technical Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to public speaking for students majoring in scientific or technical fields. Includes the same foundational material as introduction to public speaking, including: delivery, argumentation, persuasion, and audience analysis. This material is then applied to specific contexts common in technical fields, with special attention to distinguishing expert or lay audiences, and the use of technical vocabulary and notation systems. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit.
Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM120
Mass Media and Popular Culture
4 Semester Credits
This course is a survey of the mass media in popular culture. Students will examine the different types of mass media and gain an understanding of what popular culture is and why it is important. The course examines the importance of media criticism and the impact that media have had on culture and society. Students are encouraged to think critically about media and media consumption.

Studio Production
4 Semester Credits
This is an introductory television production course utilizing three cameras in a live studio environment. This course emphasizes the demands of live television production, such as collaborative team effort, pre-production, time management, and meeting deadlines. Through a series of exercises, students learn the skills required to produce a live 30-minute news magazine program. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM247
Documentary History and Theory
4 Semester Credits
This course studies the history of film’s nonfiction art form, as well as the theoretical methods of engaging the world through a lens. Through the study of selected documentaries, students will identify and analyze the filmmaker’s point of view and the methods used to deliver the message.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM254
Interpersonal Communication
4 Semester Credits
A study of the dynamics of human interaction through verbal and non-verbal messages; emphasis on factors that build relationships and help to overcome communication barriers.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM260
Environmental Communication
4 Semester Credits
We are bombarded with messages about the natural world every day from many different sources. Environmental communication comes to us through commercials, television, movies, public policy debates, the scientific and technical sphere, and social media. Environmental messages originate from groups, organizations and individuals with a variety of goals. COM 260 encourages a deeper understanding of our relationship with the world around us.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM280
Introduction to Communication Studies
4 Semester Credits
An introductory survey course designed to acquaint students with the world of ideas that serves as the foundation for the field of communication studies.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None
COM281
Research Methods
4 Semester Credits
This course focuses on the differing methods used by communication scholars to ask and answer questions about the nature of human interaction. It examines various types of research methods, both qualitative and quantitative, such as experimental research, survey research, ethnographic research, textual analysis, content analysis, and historical/critical research.

Business and Professional Speaking
4 Semester Credits
This course explores advanced issues in public address including delivery and performance, vocal control, persuasion, audience adaptation, argument construction, and speaker credibility. The class uses a series of speeches, ranging from impromptu speaking and persuasion to job interviewing and sales presentations, in order to hone students' speaking skills.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), SPC111(Public Speaking)

COM329
Intercultural Communication
4 Semester Credits
This course explores cultural differences and their implications for communication, including differences in values, norms, social interaction, and code systems.
Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience
Prerequisite(s): None

COM345
Organizational Communication
4 Semester Credits
An examination of communication in organizational settings. Focuses on topics such as superior-subordinate relationships, management styles, motivation of employees, organizational culture, effective use of meetings, and sources of communication problems.
COM351
Argumentation
4 Semester Credits
Develops critical thinking skills by study of the theory and practice of argument, evidence, fallacies, and refutation. Includes how to build and analyze public arguments that confront students in their everyday lives.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM352
Persuasion
4 Semester Credits
Examination of the process of influence in a variety of social contexts, paying special attention to the psychological aspects of persuasion.
Core Curriculum Component: None

Structure of database management systems, query facilities, file organization and security, and the development of database systems.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CSC170(Introduction to Programming)

CSC353
Database Architecture and Design
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the physical design and tuning of database systems. Topics include data storage, indexing, query processing, and transaction processing with a focus on the relation database. Advanced topics include security, other types of databases (e.g., distributed databases, client-server architectures, object-oriented), emerging technologies, and applications.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CSC170(Introduction to Programming)

CSC373
Symbolic Programming and Artificial Intelligence
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to programming in functional, symbolic languages, such as Lisp or Scheme. A study of the foundation algorithms used in the field of artificial intelligence. Applications to selected problems from artificial intelligence.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CSC210(Data Structures)

CSC385
Formal Logic and Computation Theory
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to sentential and first-order logic including logical connectives, proof theory, and quantification. Formal models of computation including finite state automata, pushdown automata, and Turing machines. Incompleteness and uncomputability.

EDC110
Teaching in a Diverse World
4 Semester Credits
This course is designed to engage students in both an examination and critique of their own schooling and education. It is meant to support students in developing a socio-political consciousness necessary for successful teaching in a diverse society (Ladson-Billings, 1995). Students in this course will be asked to come to a better understanding of their own desires to become educated people while simultaneously learning to critically examine the pathways and barriers that exist for students of color and other marginalized youth in schools today. Through participatory action research, students will explore a self-directed method of inquiry (problem-posing, problem solving) and hopefully learn how to claim their own education.

ENV

ENV100
Environmental Connections
4 Semester Credits
An interdisciplinary introduction to current environmental issues. The course depends on ecological visions of the world and examines the connections we share as people living simultaneously in human community and in physical environments. In examining these connections, we depend on the insights offered by political science, biology, economics, literature, sociology, chemistry, and history as well as experiential education and service-learning. The issues examined in this class — neither remote nor abstract — exist in our everyday lives, and a central feature of the course is the application of knowledge gained in the class to a campus project.

HUM

HUM120
Medieval Life in 12th-Century Europe
4 Semester Credits
This is the introductory course for medieval studies. It uses an interdisciplinary approach to study European culture during a period known as the High Middle Ages, roughly AD 1100 to 1300. It attempts to examine medieval culture as a complex system of thought and feeling, which includes history, religion, philosophy, literature, art, theatre, music, and food. It also takes an experiential approach to this material, for example, by having students and faculty attend class in academic regalia, just as they did in medieval universities.

Keystone: Medieval Studies Project
4 Semester Credits
The final project in medieval studies functions like an independent study. Because medieval studies is an interdisciplinary major, the final project must be also be interdisciplinary. Students are free to choose any topic connected to the Middle Ages, but must examine it with professors from at least three different disciplines. The traditional disciplines that comprise medieval studies are art history, English, history, music history, philosophy, religion, and theater history, but students have also completed projects involving professors from other disciplines, such as sociology and psychology. Experiential approaches are encouraged but not required. For example, past students have built medieval musical instruments, medieval suits of armor, and Renaissance commedia dell’arte masks, and then written about the process.

INS222
The Nobel Laureates: Religious and Political Perspectives
4 Semester Credits
Through studying the lives of prominent peacemakers and the opportunity provided to us by the Nobel Peace Prize Forum, this course examines peacemaking in the 21st century, utilizing both the lenses of political science and religion. Prerequisites: REL 100 or 300 (or can be taken concurrently).
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): 1 of HON100 (Religion, Vocation, and the Search for Meaning I) concurrent registration is acceptable, REL100 (Religion, Vocation, and the Search for Meaning I) concurrent registration is acceptable, REL300 (Religion, Vocation, and the Search for Meaning I+II) concurrent registration is acceptable

INS225
Introduction to Islam
4 Semester Credits
The course covers the ideological foundations of Islam, its basic concepts and tenets, Islamic law (Shari’ah), Islamic economic and political systems, and Islamic patterns of life.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

INS232
African-American Experience in America
4 Semester Credits
An overview of the major issues related to the African American experience, focusing on historical, sociological, economic, legal, and psychological aspects of that experience.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

INS233
Women: A Cross Cultural Perspective
4 Semester Credits

INS255
Paideia Approach: Thinking, Talking and Reading
4 Semester Credits
Students will participate in a series of seminar discussions following the Paideia seminar format as developed by Mortimer Adler. Seminar topics emphasize selections that help students to think critically, understand timeless ideas, listen carefully, and question thoughtfully. This course is ideal for education, social science, and language arts majors.

INS294
Career Exploration in Financial Services
2 Semester Credits
This course will introduce the career exploration/planning process and an overview of careers in financial services and insurance. Students will develop strategies and skills for career-related decision making and for an effective internship/job search. Course sessions will include: personal and career assessments and interpretation, career research and readings, topic discussions, employer guest speakers, and a Travelers company site visit.

Art and Culture in Political, Social and Historical Context
4 Semester Credits
Exploration of life experiences and works of artists, cultural workers, and community organizers for understanding the differences between formal institutional art and community-based art forms. Interviews and participant observation at arts performances and cultural events.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

INS331
Art and Culture in Political, Social and Historical Context
4 Semester Credits
Study of the social and cultural history of urban art, the role of art and culture in everyday life, and the relationship between intellectual discourse and the politics of cultural work. Readings, films, and discussions integrate aesthetic theory and artistic expression with issues of social change and activism.

Inequality in America: A Political Economy Approach
4 Semester Credits
Interdisciplinary readings connect experiences and direct observation with theory and research on the impact of race, class, and gender on social inequality and unequal urban development. Competing theories and strategies for urban and neighborhood development are examined in the context of dominant ideology and perspectives of people who challenge it.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

INS359
Political Sociology of Building Power, Change, and Equity
4 Semester Credits
Concrete conditions of life and community issues in different neighborhoods provide varying—at times competing—views on the Twin Cities "civic ideology." Field observations, dialogue with residents, interviews, and oral history provide data to identify inequality and to assess theories and strategies for explaining and overcoming it.

KEY470
Creating Life in the Arts: Exploration and Reflection on Vocation
4 Semester Credits
From personal reflection on vocation to real-world insights and hands-on experiences, this course will delve deeply into the skill sets and mind sets important for arts professionals in all fine arts majors. While exploring vocation concepts, this course balances entrepreneurial awareness, attitudes, and skills with entrepreneurial insights, skills, and reflection.
Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): None

KEY480
Topics in Global Interdependence
4 Semester Credits
This cross-cultural keystone seminar prepares students to "act globally" by challenging them to apply the diverse perspectives acquired while studying abroad and to analyze issues that transcend national boundaries. In English with readings in a language other than English. Open to international students and to upper-division students who have advanced knowledge of a language other than English or have studied abroad for a full semester (including in English-speaking countries with consent of instructor).
Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): None

KEY490
Vocation and the Meaning of Success
4 Semester Credits
This course is the keystone course for business majors and other majors where the major program does not include a keystone element. It draws together all facets of a student’s education by providing opportunities to reflect upon and write about the integration of one’s classes, life, and future. Readings and critical discussions with others in the same and in different majors will add dimension to each student’s reflective writing.

LAT

LAT101
Beginning Latin I
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the grammar and vocabulary required to read classical Latin. Short texts from original sources. Attention to classical and medieval Latin culture as time permits. Does not satisfy the Augsburg language requirement.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

LAT102
Beginning Latin II
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the grammar and vocabulary required to read classical Latin. Short texts from original sources. Attention to classical and medieval Latin culture as time permits. Does not satisfy the Augsburg language requirement.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): LAT101(Beginning Latin I)

MAT

MAT103
Everyday Math
3 Semester Credits
Concepts of integers, fractions, decimal numbers, ratios, percents, order of operations, exponents, and an introduction to algebraic expressions and equations with an emphasis on applications to everyday life. P/N grading only. Grade of P advances student to MPG2. MAT 103 does not count as credit toward graduation. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MPL(Math Placement Level 1)

MAT105
Applied Algebra
3 Semester Credits
Concepts of linear, exponential, logarithmic, and other models with an emphasis on applications to the social and natural sciences, business, and everyday life. Grade of 2.0 or higher advances student to MPG3. Students preparing for MAT 114 should consult the department. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Everyday Math), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

MAT114
Precalculus
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of algebraic, exponential, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions for students planning to study calculus. Students who have completed MAT 145 or other calculus courses may register for credit only with consent of department. Grade of 2.0 or higher advances student to MPG4.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT129
Practical Applications of Math
4 Semester Credits
An examination of applications of mathematics in contemporary society, with an emphasis on quantitative reasoning including an introduction to probability and statistics and topics such as the mathematics of finance, graph theory, game theory, voting theory, linear programming, or cryptography.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT137
Mathematics for Elementary Teachers I
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of number, operations, algebra, geometry, measurement, data analysis, and probability with an emphasis on the processes of problem solving, reasoning, connections, communication, and representation. These courses are designed for prospective K-6 elementary school teachers.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT138
Mathematics for Elementary Teachers II
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of number, operations, algebra, geometry, measurement, data analysis, and probability with an emphasis on the processes of problem solving, reasoning, connections, communication, and representation. These courses are designed for prospective K-6 elementary school teachers.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT140
Calculus Workshop
1 Semester Credits
An elective workshop for students concurrently enrolled in Calculus or Calculus II. Calculus-related problems and activities that require significant collaborative and creative effort. Emphasis on strategies for succeeding in college-level mathematics courses. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), MAT145(Calculus I) concurrent registration is required

MAT145
Calculus I
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of calculus of one-variable functions including derivatives, integrals, differential equations, and series.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Level 4)

MAT146
Calculus II
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of calculus of one-variable functions including derivatives, integrals, differential equations, and series.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): MAT145(Calculus I)

MAT163
Introductory Statistics
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of elementary statistics such as descriptive statistics, methods of counting, probability distributions, approximations, estimation, hypothesis testing, analysis-of-variance, and regression. Students who have successfully completed MAT248, BUS379, PSY215, or SOC362 cannot enroll in MAT163.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT171
Discrete Mathematics For Computing
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of discrete mathematics including binary representations, sequences, recursion, induction, formal logic, and combinatorics, with an emphasis on connections to computer science. Completion of CSC160 recommended prior to MAT171. Students who have completed MAT271 may not register for credit.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT173
Mathematics of Finance
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of elementary financial mathematics such as annuities, loan payments, mortgages, life annuities, and life insurance. Provides an introduction to actuarial mathematics.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT199
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Work-based learning experience that links the ideas and methods of mathematics to the opportunities found in the internship.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

MAT201
Communicating Mathematics
2 Semester Credits
An introduction to mathematical speaking, typesetting, presentation technology, reading, and bibliographic resources. This course does not count as an elective in the mathematics major or minor. Completion of this course plus one of MAT 304, MAT 314, MAT 324, MAT 355, MAT 369, MAT 374, or MAT 377 taken at Augsburg satisfies the major’s speaking skill requirement. Students with majors other than mathematics should consult their major department before taking this course.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT146 (Calculus II)

MAT245
Calculus III
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of multivariable calculus including functions of several variables, partial derivatives, vectors and the gradient, multiple integrals, and parametric representations.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT146 (Calculus II)

MAT246
Linear Algebra
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT245 (Calculus III), MAT271 (Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT248
Biostatistics
4 Semester Credits
Concepts and techniques of probability, descriptive statistics, and statistical inference are applied to scientific studies in Biology, Medicine and other Health Sciences. Material is centered on real studies in these areas. Other topics include graphing techniques, correlation and regression, experimental design, combinatorics, point and interval estimation, hypothesis testing and, time permitting, analysis of variance and nonparametric methods.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of All of BIO151 (Introductory Biology), MPL (Math Placement Level 4); MAT145 (Calculus I)

MAT252
Exploring Geometry
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of geometry including Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometries and geometric transformations with an emphasis on geometric reasoning, conjecturing, and proof.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT145 (Calculus I)

MAT271
Discrete Mathematical Structures
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of discrete mathematics including number theory, combinatorics, graph theory, recursion theory, set theory, and formal logic, with an emphasis on algorithmic thinking, mathematical reasoning, conjecturing, and proof.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of All of 1 of MAT163 (Introductory Statistics), MAT248 (Biostatistics), MAT252 (Exploring Geometry), MAT287 (History of Mathematics); MAT145 (Calculus I); MAT146 (Calculus II)

MAT273
Statistical Modeling
4 Semester Credits
This course will focus on statistical models: how to choose a statistical model, how to fit the statistical model, how to assess the fit of the statistical model, and how to use the statistical model to answer questions. Students will engage in several small group projects culminating with a final group project.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT163[Introductory Statistics], MIS379[Quantitative Methods for Business and Economics], PSY215[Research Methods and Statistics I], SOC362[Statistical Analysis]; MAT145[Calculus I]

MAT287

History of Mathematics

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of historical importance from the areas of geometry, number theory, algebra, calculus, and modern mathematics.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): MAT145[Calculus I]

MAT304

Graph Theory

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of graph theory including standard graphs, classic questions, and topics such as degree sequences, isomorphism, connectivity, traversability, matching, planarity, coloring, and graph metrics. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111[Public Speaking], COM112[Contest Public Speaking], COM115[Scientific and Technical Public Speaking], MAT201[Communicating Mathematics]; 1 of ENG111[Effective Writing], ENL111[Effective Writing], ENL112[Advanced Effective Writing], HON111[Effective Writing for Liberating Letters], WPL[Writing Placement Level]; MAT271[Discrete Mathematical Structures]

MAT314

Abstract Algebra

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of algebra including the abstract structures of groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111[Effective Writing], ENL111[Effective Writing], ENL112[Advanced Effective Writing], HON111[Effective Writing for Liberating Letters], WPL[Writing Placement Level]; 1 of COM111[Public Speaking], COM112[Contest Public Speaking], COM115[Scientific and Technical Public Speaking], MAT201[Communicating Mathematics]; MAT246[Linear Algebra], MAT271[Discrete Mathematical Structures]

MAT324

Analysis

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of real analysis including limits, boundedness, continuity, functions, derivatives, and series in a theoretical setting. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111[Effective Writing], ENL111[Effective Writing], ENL112[Advanced Effective Writing], HON111[Effective Writing for Liberating Letters], WPL[Writing Placement Level]; 1 of COM111[Public Speaking], COM112[Contest Public Speaking], COM115[Scientific and Technical Public Speaking], MAT201[Communicating Mathematics]; MAT146[Calculus II], MAT271[Discrete Mathematical Structures]
MAT355
Numerical Mathematics and Computation
4 Semester Credits
Concepts such as polynomial interpolation, numerical differentiation and integration, numerical solution of differential equations, error propagation, practical implementation of numerical methods on modern computers, and applications.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); CSC160(Introduction to Computer Science and Communication), MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT363
Dynamical Systems
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of dynamical systems including iteration, stability, orbit diagrams, symbolic dynamics, chaos, and fractals, along with topics such as applications of dynamical systems and/or complex dynamics including the Mandelbrot set and Julia sets.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT246(Linear Algebra), MAT269(Modeling and Differential Equations), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT369
Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of differential equations including quantitative and qualitative solution method of linear and non-linear systems; the application, modeling, and analysis of differential equations to model biological phenomena.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT245(Calculus III)

MAT373
Probability and Statistics I
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of probability and statistics including methods of enumeration, random variables, probability distributions, expectation, the Central Limit Theorem, sampling distributions, methods of estimation, hypothesis testing, regression, analysis of variance, and nonparametric statistics.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT245(Calculus III)

MAT374
Probability and Statistics II
4 Semester Credits
A continuation of MAT373. Concepts of probability and statistics including methods of enumeration, random variables, probability distributions, expectation, the Central Limit Theorem, sampling distributions, methods of estimation, hypothesis testing, regression, analysis of variance, and nonparametric statistics. Includes an applied project.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Operations Research
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of linear programming and its applications to optimization problems from industrial settings including the simplex method, sensitivity analysis, duality theory, alternate optima, and unboundedness with an emphasis on both the mathematical theory and the application to current business practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT373(Probability and Statistics I)

MAT394
Topics in Statistics
4 Semester Credits
Study of an advanced topic in statistics such as modeling, design of experiments, or data analysis.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); 2 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT246(Linear Algebra), MAT252(Exploring Geometry), MAT269(Modeling and Differential Equations), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures), MAT287(History of Mathematics)

MAT395
Topics
4 Semester Credits
Study of an advanced topic such as actuarial mathematics, complex analysis, mathematical biology, combinatorics, graph theory, topology, or foundations of mathematics.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); 2 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT246(Linear Algebra), MAT252(Exploring Geometry), MAT269(Modeling and Differential Equations), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures), MAT287(History of Mathematics)

MAT399
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Work-based learning experience that links the ideas and methods of mathematics to the opportunities found in the internship. For upper division credit, significant mathematical content and presentation at a departmental colloquium is required.
Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics)

MAT491
Mathematics Colloquium
0 Semester Credits
Information about contemporary applications, career opportunities, and other interesting ideas in mathematics. Presented by outside visitors, faculty members, or students. Carries no course credit.
Core Curriculum Component: None

MAT499
Independent Study
4 Semester Credits
Selection and study of an advanced topic outside of the offered curriculum with the guidance of a faculty member. Presentation at a departmental colloquium is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

MBA
MBA510
Applied Managerial Economics
3 Semester Credits
Application of economic tools in solving managerial problems. Topics include markets and organizations, demand and cost functions, demand and supply analysis, game theory and the economics of strategy, pricing incentives, evaluation, regulation, incentive conflicts and contracts, and ethics and the organizational architecture. Students develop critical thinking skills and a framework of analyzing business decisions. In summary, the objective of the course is to help business students become architects of business strategy rather than simply middle managers following the path of others.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA520
Accounting for Business Managers
3 Semester Credits
Concepts of Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) for preparing financial statements. Students will learn to analyze income statements, balance sheets, and annual reports, and to budget using projected sales, fixed and variable expenses, break-even calculation, and capital budgeting.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA530
Managerial Finance
3 Semester Credits
Understanding the foundations of financial management including markets, institutions, interest rates, risk and return, and the time value of money. Practice Wisdom (Mtis) and Formal Evidence
3 Semester Credits
This course provides a foundation for building the scholarship of advanced transcultural and holistic nursing practice. Sources of knowledge and procedures for acquiring knowledge, both formal and informal, will be studied for the power to positively influence health outcomes. Evidence will be evaluated for relevance to practical experience based in context-specific, emic positions and for rigor in empirical procedures based in context-free, etic perspectives. Utilizing selected evidence suited to particular transcultural and holistic issues, practice models building on both local expertise and professional research will be analyzed through systematic reflection. Students will begin developing original practice models suited to their transcultural and holistic healthcare issues and relevant to concerns of people marginalized by health systems. Exploration of how Evidence-Based Practice and Metis-Based Practice is integrated into nursing practice will be developed.

NUR811

First Year Doctoral Seminar

1 Semester Credits

Students are required to register for a seminar each term they are in the DNP program. The purpose of DNP seminars is to integrate diverse practicum experiences with students’ individual practice interests. As such, the seminars provide a venue for students to test ideas for their practice with faculty and peers and receive relevant feedback and support. Through dialogue in the seminars, students work on their DNP capstone projects and professional portfolios. The last seminar (NUR 841) culminates in the successful completion of a scholarly capstone project that advances nursing practice. Students register for NUR 841 during the term in which they will be completing and presenting their final doctoral project, along with their professional portfolios. The professional portfolio documents the process of theory and research integration and the emerging practice innovations the student is implementing.

NUR816

Advanced Pathophysiology and Vibrational Energy Medicine

3 Semester Credits
This course examines the interactions and influences of cellular and energy transmission within the human body. The role of imbalance and inflammation on body systems will articulate how illness and disease results from ongoing states of imbalances.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

NUR817
Informatics and Health Policy: The Colonization of Knowledge
3 Semester Credits
This course examines how knowledge is or is not accessed/utilized throughout transcultural and holistic healthcare systems. Applying principles of how multidisciplinary healthcare teams share the colonization of knowledge will be described and applied to the role of advanced practice nurses.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

NUR818
Pharmacotherapeutics I for Advanced Practice
3 Semester Credits
This course provides the foundation of the principles of pharmacology, pharmacotherapy, and pharmacokinetics. The knowledge will relate to disease processes of medications used in multiple disease states, acute and chronic illness.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

NUR819
Physical and Holistic Health Assessment
3 Semester Credits
This course articulates how a Physical and Holistic Health Assessment integrates knowledge from a variety of disciplines: medicine, Functional Medicine, spirituality, religion, transcultural and holistic nursing. Utilizing a variety of assessment tools provides the Nurse Practitioner with a systematic and holistic approach to analyze a patient's health history.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

NUR820
Integrative Illness Prevention and Wellness Promotion
3 Semester Credits
This course provides a comprehensive overview of the conceptual and theoretical bases of providing holistic approaches to health and healing. Integrative Illness Prevention and Wellness Promotion encompasses how health promotion can be impacted in a variety of cultures and populations through the life span and healthcare systems.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PA

PA501
Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy
8 Semester Credits
This course takes a regional approach to the study of human anatomy. The course uses lecture, demonstration, discussion and dissection of human cadavers. The intention is to give the students a foundation for Clinical Medicine.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PA503
Human Pathophysiology
4 Semester Credits
The course uses lecture, detailed objectives/study guide, quizzes and exam, discussion and case studies to learn and review basic human physiology and pathophysiology involving fluids and electrolytes; acid/base disturbances; cellular adaptations; immunity, hypersensitivity, inflammation, and infection; hematology; pulmonary; cardiovascular system; gastrointestinal system; renal; nervous system; and musculoskeletal system. The intention is to give the students a foundation for Clinical Medicine.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PA511
History and Physical Exam Skills I
7 Semester Credits
A lecture-discussion-laboratory course designed to demonstrate and apply techniques and skills essential to interviewing and physical examination of patients. Topics covered include history taking and physical exam of the cardiovascular, respiratory, gastrointestinal, lymph, skin and otorhinolaryngology systems. Basic nutrition, genetics, preventative health care, and complimentary and alternative medicine are introduced. Units are coordinated with Clinical Medicine I and Pharmacotherapy I.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA501 (Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503 (Human Pathophysiology)

PA512
History and Physical Exam Skills II
7 Semester Credits
A lecture-discussion-laboratory course designed to demonstrate and apply the techniques and skills essential to interviewing and physical examination of patients. Topics covered include history taking and physical exam of the musculoskeletal system, neurology, ophthalmology, endocrinology, and the male reproductive system. Units are coordinated with Clinical Medicine II and Pharmacotherapy II.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA511 (History and Physical Exam Skills I)

PA521
Pharmacotherapy I
5 Semester Credits
This course will cover pharmacology and pharmacotherapy related to disease processes of the dermatologic, cardiovascular, respiratory, gastrointestinal and otolaryngologic systems and infectious diseases. Units are coordinated with the Clinical Medicine I and History and Physical Exam Skills I courses.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA501(Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503(Human Pathophysiology)

PA522
Pharmacotherapy II
5 Semester Credits
This course will cover pharmacology and pharmacotherapy related to disease processes of the orthopedic, neurologic, ophthalmologic, hematologic, renal, urologic and endocrine systems and pain management. Units are coordinated with the Clinical Medicine II and History and Physical Exam Skills II courses.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA521(Pharmacotherapy I)

PA531
Clinical Medicine I
8 Semester Credits
This course provides background in the epidemiology, etiology, pathophysiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, and treatment of common and serious disorders. Topics covered include dermatology, cardiology, pulmonology, gastroenterology, and otorhinolaryngology. This course builds on the foundation laid in Anatomy and Pathophysiology. Units are coordinated with concurrent courses in History and Physical Exam Skills I and Pharmacotherapy I.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA501(Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503(Human Pathophysiology)

PA532
Clinical Medicine II
8 Semester Credits
This course provides background in the epidemiology, etiology, pathophysiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, and treatment of common and serious disorders. Topics covered include orthopedics, rheumatology, neurology, ophthalmology, hematology, nephrology, urology, and endocrinology. Global health and health care disparity are explored. Units are coordinated with concurrent courses in History and Physical Exam Skills II and Pharmacotherapy II.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA531(Clinical Medicine I)

PA533
Clinical Medicine III
4 Semester Credits
An integrative approach incorporating the principles of clinical medicine, history and physical exam, and pharmacotherapy focusing on the provision of medical care in pediatrics and women's health. Common and serious problems encountered in primary care are explored. Students will be introduced to topics in emergency medicine and complete a field-based orientation to surgical practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA532(Clinical Medicine II)

PA534
Clinical Medicine IV
4 Semester Credits
This course provides an integrative approach incorporating the principles of clinical medicine, history and physical exam, and pharmacotherapy in the study of geriatrics and mental health. Common and serious problems encountered in primary care and other issues unique to these populations are explored. Students will be introduced to topics in emergency medicine and complete a service-learning experience with an older adult from the community.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA533 (Clinical Medicine III)

PA542

Professional Issues

2 Semester Credits

A course designed to introduce the physician assistant student to medical ethics and various professional topics that affect the practicing physician assistant. The course focus is on the medical and non-medical aspects of the profession such as: history of the physician assistant profession, laws and regulations governing physician assistant practice and education, human experimentation, abortion, care for the dying, euthanasia, reimbursement issues, and professional behavior.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA545

Clinical Phase Transition

4 Semester Credits

This course incorporates experiential learning to prepare the student for clinical practice. It will also facilitate the transition of knowledge and skills from the academic phase into the clinical phase. Students will be placed in a clinic or hospital setting for part of the semester. Students will also have other health-related community experiences and activities during this course. In-class time will be used to discuss these experiences and work on skills essential for clinical practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA532 (Clinical Medicine II)

PA555

Research Tools for the Physician Assistant

2 Semester Credits

This course emphasizes research as a tool at all levels of physician assistant practice and education; identifies the linkages between research, theory, and medical practice and the responsibility of physician assistant to expand their knowledge base. Primary, secondary, and tertiary disease prevention applications to public health are introduced. Information literacy in relationship to medical literature is integrated throughout the course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA570

Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Aging

3 Semester Credits

This course provides an opportunity for students in health and social services disciplines to explore issues related to aging and care of the elderly. Students gain real world experiences by working collaboratively in an interdisciplinary context. Students will be asked to apply knowledge and skills directly with elders utilizing an experiential learning model. Students will build a beginning expert level knowledge base regarding issues that affect older adults in contemporary health and social welfare contexts.

PA620
Primary Care Preceptorship
6 Semester Credits
The final rotation of the clinical phase, which can be completed in family, internal, geriatric, pediatric or women’s medicine. This course provides students a final opportunity to develop skills unique to the clinical practice of medicine to include performing proper data collection, formulating accurate problem lists and investigation strategies, and developing treatment plans that incorporate evidence based medicine.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PA621
General Medicine Specialty Preceptorship
6 Semester Credits
A required rotation at the completion of the clinical phase. This course provides the student a final opportunity to develop the skills unique to the clinical practice of medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans incorporating evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature. Can be completed in PA621 General Medicine Specialty or PA622 Surgical Specialty.

Introduction to Philosophy
4 Semester Credits
This course introduces students to typical philosophical questions (how we know, if we can have certain knowledge, if there are universal moral principles, whether God exists, the nature of the mind, etc.), to philosophical vocabulary, and to critical thinking and what it means to view the world philosophically.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI120
Ethics
4 Semester Credits
By studying our moral beliefs, ethics helps students consider the bases they use to make moral judgments. The course explores major philosophical approaches to evaluating moral actions and then applies them to contemporary issues. The Christian tradition will inform the considerations. Students who receive credit for PHI 120 may not receive credit for PHI 125.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI125
Ethics and Human Identity
4 Semester Credits
A philosophical study of the role of human understanding, emotions, and action with respect to the pursuit of happiness. Beginning by asking what the end or purpose of human life is, students decide on the moral and intellectual virtues required to reach the end. Topics of friendship and human love are followed by an analysis of human happiness. Students who receive credit for PHI 125 may not receive credit for PHI 120.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI175
Philosophy of Love and Sex
4 Semester Credits
The nature and history of romantic love. The ethics of sex in relation to love, marriage, the institution of monogamy, and homosexuality are considered.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI180

Ethics of Medicine and Health Care

4 Semester Credits

The course discusses some fundamental ethical theories, which it then carefully applies to problems that arise in the areas of health care and delivery, allocation of scarce resources, human experimentation, genetic engineering, abortion, care for the dying, and euthanasia.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI230

Logic

4 Semester Credits

Students learn to distinguish arguments from exposition. Then they learn the rules that govern valid arguments and develop their ability to recognize and construct sound arguments. The last part of the course focuses on informal logic and inductive reasoning.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

PHI241

History of Philosophy I: Ancient Greek Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

Central philosophical questions that concerned the Greek philosophers from Thales to Plotinus and still concern us today: the nature of reality and its relationship to language and reason, the immortality of the soul, the nature of truth and human knowledge, and the nature of the good life.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI242

History of Philosophy II: Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

Students will read writings by various medieval and Renaissance philosophers in order to understand the process of philosophical assimilation involved in constructing a Christian philosophy. Topics include: the nature of being, human understanding in relation to faith, and the place of the image of God in the human condition. (Suggested prior course: PHI 241. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

PHI260

Philosophy and the Arts

4 Semester Credits

Philosophical issues raised and illustrated by painting, sculpture, literature, music, architecture, and film: the truth and falsehood of aesthetic judgment, the definition of art; the nature of aesthetic experience, the evaluation of art, creativity, the relation between the artist’s intention, the work of art, and its relation to the rest of the artistic tradition.
For arts majors and students with a strong background in the arts.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI315
Philosophy of Human Nature and Human Culture
4 Semester Credits
This course concerns the philosophical study of human nature and its relation to human culture. Students will read a selection of texts by eminent philosophers on the subject. Topics studied in the course include: the knowledge and nature of the self, the definition of the human being in terms of culture, myth and religion in human culture, human nature and the culture of language, and the culture of art.
Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI343
History of Philosophy III: Early Modern and 19th-Century Philosophy
4 Semester Credits
We study the major rationalists of the 17th century (Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz), the major empiricists of the 18th century (Locke, Berkeley, Hume), Kant’s synthesis of rationalism and empiricism, and 19th-century idealism and the reaction to it (Marx, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche and Mill). (Suggested prior course: PHI 241)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI344
History of Philosophy IV: 20th-21st Century Philosophy
4 Semester Credits
The course surveys the major philosophical schools in the 20th and 21st centuries: analytic philosophy, phenomenology, existentialism, pragmatism, and postmodern philosophy. Focus of study is on major texts of these movements. Students are strongly encouraged to take PHI 343 before taking PHI 344.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI350
Philosophy of Religion
4 Semester Credits
We systematically investigate a series of philosophical questions about religion. What is the relation between faith and reason? Does God exist, and if so, what can be said about God? Can God’s goodness be reconciled with human suffering? Are miracles and life after death possible?
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI370
Existentialism
4 Semester Credits
Studies in the writings - both philosophical and literary - of prominent existentialist authors. The course examines what it means to be a being-in-the-world and explores such themes as absurdity, freedom, guilt, despair, and paradox. (Suggested: one prior course in philosophy. Alternate years)

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHY203
Physics and Earth Science for Elementary Education Teachers
4 Semester Credits
This course focuses on MSEP physical science outcomes for K-5 licensure: properties of and changes in matter; position, motion and force; light, heat, electricity and magnetism; and kinds of and ways to transfer energy. Students conduct hands on physical science explorations and do lab experiments. They also review student misconceptions, Students will also study key ideas in earth science including connections between concepts in earth science and physics.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

PHY245
Modern Physics
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to modern physics from a historical and experimental perspective. Relativity, atomic, molecular, nuclear, and solid state physics. This course develops the experimental foundations and need for quantum mechanics. (Three one-hour lectures, one two-hour laboratory. Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY245L
Modern Physics Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY245(Modern Physics) concurrent registration is required

PHY261
Electronics
4 Semester Credits
AC and DC circuits, analog electronics, digital electronics, and the analysis and use of microprocessors and microcomputer systems. Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of PHY116(Introduction to Physics), PHY122(General Physics II); MAT146(Calculus II)
Augsburg College 2015-2016 Course Descriptions

PHY261L

Prerequisite(s): None

PHY317
Biophysics
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to classic topics at the intersection of physics and biology. Topics may include biopolymers, self-assembly, nerves and signal propagation, molecular machines, and biomembranes. The course will emphasize approaches based on thermodynamics, statistical mechanics, and experimental techniques. (Three one-hour lectures and a three hour laboratory. Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT146(Calculus II), PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY317L
Biophysics Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY317(Biophysics) concurrent registration is required

PHY320
Introduction to Space Science
4 Semester Credits
A survey of Earth’s space environment including solar, planetary, magnetospheric, ionospheric, and upper atmospheric physics (solar dynamics, magnetic storms, particle precipitation, aurora, and related topics). (Three one-hour lectures.)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY245(Modern Physics)

PHY327
Special Functions of Mathematical Physics
4 Semester Credits
Special functions encountered in physics. Partial differentiation, partial differential equations, Fourier series, series solution of differential equations, Legendre, Bessel, and other orthogonal functions, vector calculus, applied linear algebra (e.g., matrix multiplication, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, special matrices, determinants), functions of a complex variable, and an introduction to computer programming in IDL. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT245(Calculus III), PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY327L

Special Functions of Mathematical Physics Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics) concurrent registration is required

PHY351

Mechanics I
4 Semester Credits
Classical mechanics in terms of Newtonian, Lagrangian, and Hamiltonian formalisms. Topics include conservation principles, single particle motion, gravitation, oscillations, central forces, and two-particle kinematics. (Three one-hour lectures. Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY352

Mechanics II
4 Semester Credits
Classical mechanics in terms of Newtonian, Lagrangian, and Hamiltonian formalisms. Topics include dynamics of rigid bodies, systems of particles, coupled oscillations, and noninertial reference frames. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY122(General Physics II), PHY351(Mechanics I)

PHY362

Electromagnetic Fields I
4 Semester Credits
The classical electromagnetic field theory is developed using vector calculus. Topics include electrostatics, solution of Laplace’s and Poisson’s equations, and electric properties of materials. (Three one-hour lectures. Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY363

Electromagnetic Fields II
4 Semester Credits
The classical electromagnetic field theory is developed using vector calculus. Topics include magnetostatics, magnetic properties of materials, and electromagnetic radiation based on Maxwell’s equations. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY362(Electromagnetic Fields I)
Augsburg College 2015-2016 Course Descriptions

PHY395
Comprehensive Laboratory I
2 Semester Credits
Students work in small groups on advanced experiments from various physics subfields (including modern physics, electronic instrumentation, magnetism, and optics) with a focus on the role of experiments, interpretation of data, and scientific communication. Incorporates an introduction to LabVIEW software for computerized data acquisition and experiment control. (One three-hour laboratory and an occasional one-hour seminar per week. Prereq.: junior or senior standing in physics. Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

PHY396
Comprehensive Laboratory II
2 Semester Credits
A continuation of PHY 395. A thorough exploration of interface hardware and software design (LabVIEW) for computer-controlled experiments followed by application of these techniques to advanced experiments in high vacuum physics and technology, modern optics, biophysics, and other areas. (One three-hour laboratory and an occasional one-hour seminar per week. Prereq.: junior or senior standing in physics. Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), PHY122(General Physics II), PHY395(Comprehensive Laboratory I)

PHY420
Plasma Physics
4 Semester Credits
Fundamentals of plasma physics including waves, instabilities, drifts, plasma drifts, particle motion, electric and magnetic fields, Boltzmann equation, magnetohydrodynamics, transport, and applications to laboratory and space plasmas. (Three one-hour lectures.)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PHY363(Electromagnetic Fields II) concurrent registration is acceptable; PHY362(Electromagnetic Fields I)

PHY430
Introduction to Solid State Physics
4 Semester Credits

Topics in solid state physics including various theories of metals, crystal lattices, band structure and Fermi surfaces, phonons, semiconductors and magnetism. The conditions and consequences of the solid state of materials will be explored at a very detailed level, taking realistic parameters of materials into account. Prereq.: PHY 486 strongly recommended. (Three one-hour lectures.)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PHY351(Mechanics I), PHY362(Electromagnetic Fields I)

PHY486
Quantum Physics
4 Semester Credits

A development from first principles, including de Broglie’s postulates, the Schroedinger equation, operators, wave functions, expectation values, and approximation methods. Applications include potential wells and barriers, the harmonic oscillator, and the hydrogen atom. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PHY245(Modern Physics), PHY351(Mechanics I)

PHY499
Independent Study
4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL

POL121
American Government and Politics
4 Semester Credits

Surveys major parts of American national government - including Congress, the presidency, and the courts - as well as campaigns and elections, federalism, interest groups, and political parties.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL122
Metropolitan Complex
4 Semester Credits

Examines politics in metropolitan areas, emphasizing central cities and focusing on influences on urban public policy. Includes case studies of the Twin Cities metro area.

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL124
American Women and Politics
4 Semester Credits

Investigates the roles women play in the political system. Political, economic, and social issues will be explored from contemporary and historical perspectives.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None
POL158
Introduction to Political Science
4 Semester Credits
An analysis of basic patterns in the political system and decision-making process with some comparison of major political systems and discussion of contemporary issues.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

POL160
World Politics
4 Semester Credits
Introduction to the processes and issues of international politics, including the dynamics of the international system, theories of international relations, and a focus on recent problems.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

POL170
Law in the United States
4 Semester Credits
A survey of American law and legal process. Theories of law; law and society; roles of courts, police, lawyers, and juries; the United States Constitution as "supreme" law; law as politics; historic and contemporary legal issues.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

POL199
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

POL241
Environmental and River Politics
4 Semester Credits
This course explores the politics of the communities and ecosystems of the Upper Mississippi River watershed, including controversies about river pollution, the lock and dam system, regional water supply, flood control, and farming practices. Includes site visits to see how local policy-makers and stakeholders are trying to achieve sustainability in the watershed.
Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

POL295

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

POL299
Directed Study
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

POL310
Citizen Participation within a Globalized Economy-A Nicaraguan Case Study
4 Semester Credits
Topics include key political, social and economic global processes that shape citizen participation in Nicaragua and globally. Focuses on key economic development policies apple in Nicaragua and ongoing participatory efforts of NGOs, social movements and community groups working on alternative development policies.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

POL325
Politics and Public Policy
4 Semester Credits
The domestic policy making process, emphasizing how elected officials, bureaucrats, and interest groups shape government policies in various areas, including taxes, the environment, and social welfare policy. How public policies are formulated and implemented.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

POL326
Political Parties and Behavior
4 Semester Credits
Emphasizes study of public opinion and political parties in the electoral process. Field work with political parties, interest groups, and media in presidential elections (optional in non-presidential election years).
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policies), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL341
Globalization, Social Struggle and the Environment
4 Semester Credits
Explores issues of globalization and social change in Mexico and analyzes political, social, and economic policies that promote and/or hinder sustainable development from a gender perspective. Particular emphasis will be placed on environmental issues and the causes of migration/emigration and social unrest in Mexico.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

POL342
Mass Communication in Society

4 Semester Credits

Studies effects of new information technology (such as the Internet) and of the traditional electronic media. Covers uses of technology and media for newsmaking, selling, entertainment, and public affairs.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL350

Topics: European Politics

4 Semester Credits

Study of the political behavior, institutions, and processes of European states. The course will focus on either European community law and politics or domestic politics in European states.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL353

Political and Social Change in Namibia

4 Semester Credits

This course is an integrative seminar for the semester and examines the legacy of apartheid in Namibia with particular focus on the social and political movements that have evolved in the struggle for independence.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL354

The Politics of Development in Southern Africa

4 Semester Credits

This course examines basic theories of development as well as the political economy of development. It provides the opportunity to reflect critically on issues of development, including global justice, equality, and sustainability.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL357

Women, Gender, and Social Change in Latin America

4 Semester Credits

An exploration of gender politics in Latin America. Particular attention is given to women’s organizing efforts around issues of domestic and political violence, ecology, human rights, democracy, political participation, and revolutionary social change. This course fulfills a Social and Behavioral Sciences LAF requirement.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None
POL359
Topics: Women in Comparative Politics
4 Semester Credits
An exploration of gender politics in globalization. Particular attention is given to women’s organizing efforts around issues of domestic and political violence, ecology, human rights, democracy, political participation, and revolutionary social change.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL368
Model United Nations
4 Semester Credits
This course provides students with in-depth understanding of the United Nations and international diplomacy through the process of preparation for attending the National Model United Nations Conference which is held each spring in New York City. Students research a country and set of issues for the committee on which they will serve.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL160(World Politics)

POL370
Constitutional Law
4 Semester Credits
The legal-political-philosophical role of the Supreme Court in the American political system in significant decisions affecting the allocation of powers in the national government and in the federal system.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); POL170(Law in the United States)

POL371
Topics
4 Semester Credits
Selected topics in internet, communications, and constitutional law. Content will vary, defined by the subtitle of the course.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), COM120(Mass Media and Popular Culture), COM280(Introduction to Communication Studies), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics)

POL380
Western Political Thought
4 Semester Credits
A study of influential political philosophers, emphasizing the values, goals, and assumptions that continue to inform and to rationalize human governance.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policy), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

POL381
Topics: Democratic Theory
4 Semester Credits
Selected topics including the emergence of political democracy in comparative perspective and American political thought. Topic to be included in the subtitle.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policy), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

Topics: American Politics
4 Semester Credits
Topics include legislative, executive, or judicial politics, public policy, and leadership. Can include focus on national, state, or local level.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/Latin Am), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policy), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL459
Topics: Comparative Politics
4 Semester Credits
Selected themes including interpretations of political systems and comparisons of political processes such as political participation, political development, political change, and revolution. Topic to be included in subtitle.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/Latin Am), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policy), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL461
Topics: International Politics
4 Semester Credits
Selected themes including interpretations of international politics, foreign policy decision-making, simulations of international problems. Topic to be included in subtitle.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identity), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst SU/Russia/CIS), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/Latin Am), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policy), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)
POL483
Political Statistics and Methodology
4 Semester Credits
Introductory survey of political science methods. Covers experimental design, descriptive and inferential statistics, computer methods, and issues in the construction and execution of political surveys.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

POL484
Political Analysis
4 Semester Credits
An analysis of different approaches and theories in the study of politics including an examination of the requirements of science as a model for political study. Major research is required. This course satisfies the Keystone requirement.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): 3 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Political Patterns and Processes), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL199(Internship), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL295(Topics), POL299(Directed Study), POL310(Citizen Participation within a Globalized Economy-A Nicaraguan Case Study), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL341(Globalization, Social Struggle and the Environment), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL353(Political and Social Change in Namibia), POL354(The Politics of Development in Southern Africa), POL357(Women Gender and Social Change in Latin America - Mexico), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL366(Model United Nations), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL495(Seminar), POL498(Independent Study), POL499(Independent Study)

POL490
International Relations Keystone
4 Semester Credits
Capstone seminar for students majoring in international relations; analysis of some methods for studying international relations; analysis of major trends; senior thesis. Open to other students by consent of instructor. This course satisfies the Keystone requirement for International Relations majors.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

SOC

SOC111
City Life: Introduction to Urban Sociology
4 Semester Credits
How is community possible in the context of multicultural, social, and political forces that are characteristic of urban life? The cultural and structural dynamics of the Twin Cities are a basis for exploring these themes.
Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC121
Introduction to Sociology
4 Semester Credits
What is society and how does it make us who we are? Sociology offers insights into discovering the world and one’s place in it. Course study focuses on an understanding of culture, social structure, institutions, and our interactions with each other.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC199
Internship
4 Semester Credits
This course requires at least 140 hours at a college-approved internship site and completion of a learning agreement before or at the beginning of the internship. Participation in a biweekly on-campus seminar is also required to receive course credit.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC231
Family Systems: Cross Cultural Perspectives
4 Semester Credits
The term family is a universal concept, yet its membership, rituals, and functions vary dramatically across world cultures and sub-cultures in the United States. Family systems are explored with respect to cultural and historical settings, variations among families, and modern cultural and social patterns.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC240
Protest and Social Change: The Sociology of Social Movements
4 Semester Credits
Why do people engage in protests and join social movements? What impacts do social movements have on social institutions, the state, culture, and even personal identity? This course explores these and other questions through studying social movement theory and several social movements occurring over the last two centuries. (SOC 121 and courses on 19th or 20th century U.S. history recommended, but not required.)

SOC265
Race, Class and Gender
4 Semester Credits
Who gets what, when, and how? Individuals and groups from diverse backgrounds—race, ethnicity, class, gender, and sexuality—receive unequal portions of wealth, power, and prestige in our society. This course focuses on both the collective and individual processes involved in social inequality.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC266
Sociology of Sexualities
4 Semester Credits
What we mean by “sex” changes over time. During different historical time periods it’s been a sin, a means of forging ties between powerful families, a source of psychological perversion, a means to pleasure, a symbol of love, as well as a personal identity. This class explores how sexuality and its components (desire, pleasure, love, the body) are socially constructed.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC277
Introduction to Criminology
4 Semester Credits
What do we know about crime in American society? How can we explain crime sociologically? Patterns of crime, theories to explain crime, and analysis of the police, the courts, and the correctional system are examined.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC290
Cultures of Violence

SOC320
Sociology of Law
4 Semester Credits
How does law in practice differ from law as it is written in the Constitution/Bill of Rights? Despite the pretense that legal language is neutral, in practice, the law constructs people in different, unequal ways based on their class, age, race, gender, and sexuality. We will explore the different ways that law is practiced and theorized. Coursework will involve observing law in practice in local courts.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC349
Organizations and Society: Understanding Nonprofits and Corporations
Augsburg College 2015-2016 Course Descriptions

4 Semester Credits
What is the nature of these modern organizations in which we spend so much of our daily lives? Organizations as corporate actors, for profit and not for profit, are analyzed with respect to their goals, culture, technology and structure. We will explore the consequences of living in a society dominated by organizations.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); SOC362(Statistical Analysis)

SOC375
Social Psychology
4 Semester Credits
Who are you, really? Taking the perspective of symbolic interactionism, this course begins with an exploration of how we create and sustain our identities through interaction with those around us and how those identities change with the surrounding circumstances. The course continues with a consideration of how social situations affect and shape individual identity and behavior.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC377
Organizational Crime and Deviance
4 Semester Credits
The benefits of contemporary organizational life come with costs: space shuttle explosions, insider trading, chemicals dumped in lakes; nuclear accidents; corporate scandals. What are the causes and consequences of organizational crime and deviance? Case study analysis and the application of sociological models of explanation will be examined in depth.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC380
Disaster and Resilience
4 Semester Credits
Augsburg College 2015-2016 Course Descriptions

Floods. Heat waves. Earthquakes. Nuclear accidents. How do communities respond to such disasters? What is the role of government and media in such events? Can we reduce vulnerabilities? Through projects, field visits, guest speakers and seminar discussions we draw from the sociology of disaster, urban sociology, environmental studies, and organizational theory.

The seminars are designed to address issues and experiences from the student's field practicum through rigorous application of different theoretical concepts and social work principles using a culturally sensitive approach grounded in a clear ethical foundation. The goal is to strengthen the students' sophistication in understanding the interconnections between culturally appropriate theory and practice skills related to a specific client system, and the students' inherent and inescapable contribution based on their use of self. Secondly, the field seminar is the course where the students reflect on the evolution of their practice and document their progress. All students in field placements must participate in the appropriate concurrent Field Seminar.

These courses are based on a dual focus of valuing diversity and understanding social justice. This two-course sequence studies the history, demographics, and cultures of various disenfranchised groups as well as the dominant culture. It examines the impact of inequality on people of all backgrounds. In the second semester, students will participate in dialogue group: a stage-based, co-facilitated, face-to-face group that focuses on dialogue skills within the context of one's race, ethnicity, age, religion, disability, country of origin, gender identity, and sexual orientation. The two-sequence course is based on several assumptions: social inequality is an overarching phenomenon related to diversity, with individual manifestations within different social identity categories; social injustice occurs and is present at individual, institutional, and societal/structural levels; and, professional social work ethics and values demand cultural competence and culturally sensitive practice at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels.

4 Semester Credits

MCCP with Individuals is a required methods course in the MCCP concentration. The course prepares social work clinicians who are competent to assess, intervene and monitor clinical interventions that are culturally sensitive and consistent with social work values and ethics. Although focused on individual intervention, clients are viewed within the context of their families and social context. The therapeutic process and treatment strategies are examined, incorporating content from psychodynamic, cognitive-behavioral, and post-modern models. These content areas are compared from a multicultural perspective in terms of their theoretical assumptions, intervention methods, and empirical evidence regarding treatment outcomes. Application of the models is placed within the problem-solving model and guided by an ecosystems, strengths, and empowerment perspective. Particular attention is given to the development of self-reflective practitioners.

MCCP with Families

3 Semester Credits

MCCP with Families is a required methods course that focuses on the family as a unit of assessment and intervention in clinical social work practice. This course examines theory, knowledge and skills for clinical practice with families within a multicultural context. Students apply major family therapy models to assessing and intervening with families experiencing problems. The models are compared from a multicultural perspective in terms of their theoretical assumptions, intervention methods, and empirical evidence regarding treatment outcomes. Application of the models is placed within the problem-solving model and guided by ecosystems, strengths and empowerment perspectives. The course emphasizes family work that is appropriate to individual and family developmental stages and to diverse family types. Attention is given to family-centered practice in different social work fields of practice and settings and to the development of self-awareness of the practitioner.

MCCP Policy Practice

3 Semester Credits

In this course, MCCP students learn how organizational and social policies affect the delivery of clinical social work services in multicultural contexts. Students build upon the core policy practice competencies gained in their MSW foundation courses. Clinical social work practice is distinguished from other professional clinical practice by this use of the person-in-environment perspective. The multi-cultural lens sharpens focus on both the strengths that come with diversity and the discrimination and oppression, such as racism, that policies can uphold or undo.

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK631

MCCP with Groups

4 Semester Credits

This course prepares students for advanced multicultural groupwork within a clinical practice. This course builds on the foundational curriculum with particular attention to clinical practice skills. Students will focus on the process of individual empowerment and change in the context of clinical group processes. Applied theories of human development, change, and resilience are integrated with theories of group processes, group leadership, and group communication as a critical knowledge base for planning, intervention, and leadership. Students will develop an understanding of phases of group practice, intervention skills, and ethical practices applied in a groupwork environment. In this course, the reflexive use of self and the cautious use of evidence-based practice serve as the foundation for culturally responsive groupwork. Students will consider how their social identity and position influences similar and mixed social identity groups and their processes.

MCCC Supervision
2 Semester Credits
Building upon the research to date on social work supervision, this course presents the functions of supervision (administrative, educational, supportive) as they interrelate in achieving the primary purpose of clinical supervision: assuring that client services prevent difficulties in client functioning and restore or enhance the biopsychosocial and spiritual functioning of individuals, families and groups served by supervisees. Students hone skills necessary for each of the stages of the supervisory process (planning, beginning, work, and ending), and they build a repertoire of supervisory questions that have been associated in research with fostering success in meeting clients’ goals. Students learn to differentiate supervision with its dimensions of hierarchical power, responsibility, liability, and authority from peer consultation. They gain competencies in both individual and group supervision, as well as competencies related to consultation with a multicultural lens to advance the application of theories and models of clinical social work practice.

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK640
Multicultural Clinical Practice Capstone
3 Semester Credits
This capstone course focuses on evaluation of treatment outcomes and practice efficacy. Students apply research skills, using clinically derived data in formative and summative evaluation of their practice process and outcomes. Students create a practice evaluation portfolio using previous coursework and data sets collected from their field practica. Data sets may include process recordings, structured observations, and data from individualized rating scales and questionnaires.

Diversity and Inequality 1: MCMP
2 Semester Credits
These courses explore diversity and social inequality related to race, ethnicity, social class, gender, sexual orientation, age, and disability with application to the social service setting. Students focus on the structural and institutional processes through which social inequality is created and perpetuated. Institutional remedies for inequality are studied, such as affirmative action and equal opportunity policy, culturally competent supervision, administration, program development, and advocacy.

Research 2: Program Evaluation
4 Semester Credits
Building on the basic research skills developed in Research Methods, this course offers a program-oriented exploration of the range of research methods used in social work. There will be a particular focus on evaluative research, a critique of the role of research in assessing efficiency and effectiveness in social service delivery, and identification with the responsibility of social workers “to expand the knowledge base” of social work. The course emphasizes research as a tool at all levels of social work and will be concerned with strengthening the linkages between research, theory, and program evaluation.

Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 1
3 Semester Credits
This course examines organizational theory and structure; processes of development, research, and evaluation; and social work values and ethics in the workplace. The need to work effectively within an organizational context means that social work practitioners must acquire a level of expertise in organization theory, dynamics, structure, and behavior, as well as an understanding of how organizations provide practice opportunities and constraints. This course provides opportunities for students to build the necessary skills to become effective service providers or change agents in the context of their work in social service organizations.

SWK670
Multicultural Macro Practice Policy
4 Semester Credits
This course examines theories, concepts, and analytical frameworks for analyzing policy. It addresses the role of economics, demographics, politics, values, and other relevant factors on policy design and implementation. The course emphasizes the analysis of selected existing or proposed policies in such areas as social insurance (e.g., Social Security), welfare reform, health care, long-term care, and tax policy including tax expenditures.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SWK671
Multicultural Macro Practice Planning
3 Semester Credits
This course examines theoretical and conceptual ideas concerning human services, their rationale in a market economy, and their relationship to public policy. Students will gain knowledge and build skills in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of services at various levels of system design, taking into account organizational, financial, and technological dimensions within an analytical framework of defined need and demand for service.
SWK698
Independent Study
4 Semester Credits
Students may propose to complete an independent study project. Such directed study projects provide the opportunity for a student to explore a particular area of social work. A faculty sponsor must be secured and a proposal submitted to the Social Work Department. On rare occasions, an independent study may be used to satisfy the general elective requirement. Prior approval is required. Courses that are part of the required curriculum may not be taken as independent study.

SWK699
General Elective
2 Semester Credits
Students in both concentrations complete at least one general elective course for graduation. The following are examples of offerings that are rotated each year: Parent and Professional Planning, Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Aging, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy in Social Work Clinical Practice, Spirituality and Social Work Practice, Empowerment of Services Users in Mental Health. We also offer short-term electives abroad: Exploring Human Services in International Settings (examples include Mexico, Slovenia, Namibia, South Africa, India, China, and Hong Kong).

Liberationist, Feminist, Queer and Postcolonial Theologies in Latin America
4 Semester Credits
Study the range of Latin American liberation theologies that have developed since the 1960s, when Catholic theologians first asserted that God has a "preferential option for the poor" and therefore linked their faith to revolutionary social movements against political and economic oppression. Recently, Latin American theologies have expanded to include feminist, queer, and postcolonial struggles against sexism, heterosexism, and imperialism. Not accepted for credit for students who have taken REL 366.
