4 Semester Credits
Painting, sculpture, and architecture from Neoclassicism through the present.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111 (Effective Writing), ENL111 (Effective Writing), ENL112 (Advanced Effective Writing), HON111 (Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL (Writing Placement Level)

ART389
American Art
4 Semester Credits
A study of early colonial through contemporary American art, architecture, and folk arts.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

ART390
Native American Art
4 Semester Credits
This course surveys the rich and dynamic heritage of visual arts from indigenous communities of North America, spanning from pre-European contact into the present. Students will meet Native artists, visit a variety of Native American art galleries and exhibitions, and learn about the cultural, social, and political context surrounding Native American art. ART390 is open to art history students only.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters); ART240(Art History Survey)

ART405
Senior Exhibition/Project and Review
3 Semester Credits
This course showcases studio art, art history and graphic design majors’ developing creative production through solo exhibition and review. Majors learn professional practices and writing for the arts, produce themed original creative production for exhibition, create digital portfolio and identity package, prepare work for presentation, install exhibition, engage a variety of audiences in critical dialogue, participate in formal faculty review and reflect on vocation.
Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): ART305(Junior Exhibition and Review)

ART424
Advanced Design Studio III
4 Semester Credits
As part of the design agency, students will learn the principles of leading a team through real-world projects. Through an intense, collaborative, project-based approach, this class explores the practice of graphic design as well as the components of managing creative projects. Students will extend their learning beyond the classroom and work with community partners to create a variety of design projects. Emphasis is placed on cultivating the student's personal interests and abilities, editing and refining the range and quality of portfolio work.

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): ART315(Web Design II), ART326(Design Studio II)

ART425
Advanced Design Studio IV
4 Semester Credits
As part of the design agency, students will lead teams through real-world projects. Through an intense, collaborative, project-based approach, this class explores the practice of graphic design as well as competencies of managing creative projects. Students will extend their learning beyond the classroom and work with community partners to create a variety of design projects.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone

Prerequisite(s): ART424(Advanced Design Studio III) concurrent registration is acceptable

ART478
Sculpture II
4 Semester Credits
Advanced work in sculpture and three-dimensional design.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): ART221(Sculpture I)

ART498
Independent Study
2 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

ASL – American Sign Language

ASL101
Beginning American Sign Language I
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to deaf culture and the signs and syntax of ASL. Students observe the demonstration of signs, practice their own signing, and learn the facial expressions and body language needed to communicate clearly with deaf and hard-of-hearing people.

Core Curriculum Component: Modern Language 1
Prerequisite(s): None

ASL102
Beginning American Sign Language II
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to deaf culture and the signs and syntax of ASL. Students observe the demonstration of signs, practice their own signing, and learn the facial expressions and body language needed to communicate clearly with deaf and hard-of-hearing people.
Core Curriculum Component: Modern Language 2
Prerequisite(s): ASL101 (Beginning American Sign Language I)

AUG – Augsburg Seminar

AUG101
Augsburg Seminar
1 Semester Credits
A weekly seminar linked to a course or course pair that integrates course content with learning strategies and community-building opportunities beneficial to beginning college students. While the content course is graded on a traditional point basis, Augsburg Seminar is graded P/N. Permission to complete the seminar if the student withdraws from the linked content course(s) is at the discretion of the instructor(s). (P/N grading only)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): FIRSTYEAR (First Year Student)

AUGEX – Augsburg Experience

BIO - Biology

BIO102
The Biological World
4 Semester Credits
The basic concepts of biology pertaining to both plants and animals are emphasized. The nature of science and the approach used by scientists to gather and analyze data and propose and test hypotheses are considered. Concurrent registration in BIO102L is required. (Does not apply to the major or minor.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103 (Prealgebra), MAT103 (Everyday Math), MPL (Math Placement Level 2)

BIO102L
The Biological World Lab
0 Semester Credits
Three hour lab taken concurrently with BIO102.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): BIO102 (The Biological World) concurrent registration is required

BIO103
Human Anatomy and Physiology
4 Semester Credits
A survey of the structure and function of the human body. Concurrent registration in BIO103L is required. (A student may not receive credit for both BIO 121 and 103. Does not apply to the major or minor.) Students are strongly encouraged to take CHM 102 or another chemistry course before taking this class.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): 1 of HPE104 (Components of Fitness Training), MUS101 (Materials of Music I), MUS111 (Aural Skills I), MUS113 (Music Theory and Aural Skills I)

BIO103L
Human Anatomy and Physiology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Three hour lab taken concurrently with BIO103.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): BIO103 (Human Anatomy and Physiology) concurrent registration is required

BIO118
Environmental Biology
4 Semester Credits
Analyze the most important issues in environmental biology with special emphasis on biodiversity, drawing particularly from examples in Mexico. Students will learn about theoretical and applied issues regarding the ecological framework of tropical America through lectures, required readings, fieldwork, and lab work. Concurrent registration in BIO118L is required. This course may be used as a substitute to meet the ENV 120 requirement in the ENV major, and meets the Natural Sciences LAF.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): None

BIO118L
Environmental Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): BIO118(Environmental Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO121
Human Biology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to basic biological principles with a human perspective and application. Includes discussion of the molecular and cellular basis of life, genetics and genetic disease, selected organ systems and disease, and the sustainability of life on Earth. Concurrent registration in BIO121L is required. (A student may not receive credit for both BIO 121 and 103. Does not apply to the major or minor in biology. Students are strongly encouraged to take CHM 102 before taking this class.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): None

BIO121L
Human Biology Lab
0 Semester Credits
Three hour lab taken concurrently with BIO121.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

Prerequisite(s): BIO121(Human Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO150
Introductory Biology Workshop
2 Semester Credits
An elective workshop for students concurrently enrolled in BIO 151 Introductory Biology. Students will explore topics covered in BIO 151 in more depth using AVID-based strategies for succeeding in college-level biology courses. P/N grading only.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology) concurrent registration is required, CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

BIO151
Introductory Biology
4 Semester Credits
First of a two-semester sequence. An introduction to biology for science majors, including cell and molecular biology, energy metabolism, genetics. BIO 151 and 152 must be taken in sequence except by permission of instructor. Concurrent registration in BIO151L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

BIO151L
Introductory Biology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Three hour lab taken concurrently with BIO151.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO152
Evolution, Ecology and Diversity
4 Semester Credits
Second of a two-semester introductory sequence. An introduction to evolution, ecology, and biological diversity for science majors. Concurrent registration in BIO152L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

BIO152L
Evolution Ecology and Diversity Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO152.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity) concurrent registration is required

BIO199
Internship
4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of All of BIO113(Introductory Organismal Biology), BIO114(Intro Genetics Evolution and Ecolo); All of BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO253
Introductory Cellular Biology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to structure and function in tissues, cells, and subcellular organelles. Concurrent registration in BIO253L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM106(Principles of Chemistry II), CHM116(General Chemistry II)

BIO253L
Introductory Cellular Biology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO253.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology) concurrent registration is required
BIO255
Genetics
4 Semester Credits
A study of the principles of heredity. The course integrates classical transmission genetics, molecular genetics, and genomics. Special topics will include epigenetics, developmental genetics, and human disease genetics. Contemporary genetic model systems will be utilized in laboratory experiments. Concurrent registration in BIO255L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity), CHM116(General Chemistry II)

BIO255L
Genetics Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO255.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO255(Genetics) concurrent registration is required

BIO297
Directed Study: Research in Biology
2 Semester Credits
Directed research with a faculty mentor. No more than two terms may be applied to minimum graduation requirements. Requires permission of instructor and chair of the department. (Pass/No Pass only)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

BIO299
Directed Study: Research in Biology
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

BIO320
Human Anatomy
4 Semester Credits
This course is a systems approach to the study of human body structure including histology and gross anatomy. Students learn to relate structure to function through the use of texts, models and dissection of organs and animals. This course is intended to meet the requirements of students in the fields of nursing, physical therapy, physician assistant and some other allied health programs. Concurrent registration in BIO320L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO320L
Human Anatomy Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO320.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO320(Human Anatomy) concurrent registration is required

BIO351
Invertebrate Zoology
4 Semester Credits
A study of the invertebrate animals stressing classification, morphology, behavior, life history, and phylogeny. Concurrent registration in BIO351L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO351L
Invertebrate Zoology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO351.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO351(Invertebrate Zoology) concurrent registration is required

BIO353
Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy
4 Semester Credits
Comparative anatomy, functional morphology, and evolutionary morphology of vertebrates. A study of vertebrate anatomy integrating the perspectives of embryology, morphology and phylogeny. Concurrent registration in BIO353L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO353L
Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO353.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO353(Comparative Vertebrate Anatomy) concurrent registration is required

BIO361
Plant Biology
4 Semester Credits
A survey of the diversity and evolution of algae and plants. Topics on plant anatomy, physiology, phylogeny, ecological and economic importance, and plant-microbe interactions are integrated throughout. Concurrent registration in BIO361L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO361L
Plant Biology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO361.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO361(Plant Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO369
Biochemistry
4 Semester Credits
The course addresses the chemical structure and function of the major biological macromolecules. Key topic areas are protein structure and function, enzyme mechanisms, thermodynamics, intermediary metabolism, and metabolic regulation. Concurrent registration in BIO369L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM251(Organic Chemistry I), CHM351(Organic Chemistry I); 1 of CHM251L(Organic Chemistry I Lab), CHM351L(Organic Chemistry I Lab); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO369L
Biochemistry Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO369.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): BIO369(Biochemistry) concurrent registration is required

BIO370
Biochemistry II
4 Semester Credits
Biochemistry II explores structural biology techniques such as protein NMR, crystallography, and fluorescence. Biochemical challenges and applications, such as drug delivery, manipulation of intercellular signaling, and rational design of recombinant protein constructs will be studied. Students will use the primary literature in biochemistry as part of the course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO369(Biochemistry), CHM369(Biochemistry)

BIO396
Internship
4 Semester Credits

Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO215(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO420
Conservation Science
4 Semester Credits
This course will focus on the scientific foundations of biological conservation. Students will explore major threats to ecosystems and biodiversity and discuss approaches for overcoming these threats in ways that balance the needs of people and nature.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO255(Genetics), ENV320(Environmental Science); BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO440
Plant Physiology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the basic principles of how plants function. Emphasis will be on the flowering plants and the processes involved with photosynthesis, growth, development, and water relations. The impact of abiotic and biotic stressors on plant physiology will be discussed. Concurrent registration in BIO440L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO440L
Plant Physiology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO440.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO440(Plant Physiology - Co-Req) concurrent registration is required

BIO471
Advanced Cellular and Molecular Biology
4 Semester Credits
An examination of mechanisms of molecular genetics, recombinant DNA technology, cell-signaling, cell cycle control, the cytoskeleton and select additional topics. Concurrent registration in BIO471L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO369(Biochemistry)

BIO471L
Advanced Cellular and Molecular Biology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO471.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO471(Advanced Cellular and Molecular Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO473
Physiology of Humans and Other Animals
4 Semester Credits
A study of digestion, respiration, circulation, excretion, movement, and sensory perception as well as neural and hormonal control of these functions, emphasizing vertebrates. Concurrent registration in BIO473L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Biostatistics), MAT248(Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO473L
Physiology of Humans and Other Animals Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO473.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO473(Animal Physiology) concurrent registration is required

BIO474
Developmental Biology
4 Semester Credits
A study of development from the embryonic to adult stages. The course will focus on the physiological, molecular, and morphological changes that occur during development. Additional topics to be covered will include evolutionary developmental biology (evo devo), teratology, stem cells, regeneration, and cell death. Concurrent registration in BIO474L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO474L
Developmental Biology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO474.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO474(Developmental Biology) concurrent registration is required

BIO475
Neurobiology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the nervous system. Topics to be studied include the electrical activity of neurons, sensory and motor systems, mechanisms of learning and memory, animal behavior, and human cognition. Concurrent registration in BIO475L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

BIO475L
Neurobiology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO475.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO475(Neurobiology) concurrent registration is required
BIO476
Microbiology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the study of microorganisms. Environmental, industrial, and medical issues are discussed, with particular attention paid to human pathogens. Concurrent registration in BIO476L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO255(Genetics)

BIO476L
Microbiology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Two two-hour labs per week, taken concurrently with BIO476.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO476(Microbiology) concurrent registration is required

BIO481
Ecology
4 Semester Credits
A study of interactions between organisms and the biotic and abiotic environment. Topics include physiological ecology, energy flow, nutrient cycling, a survey of biomes, population and community ecology, and conservation. Concurrent registration in BIO481L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM106(Principles of Chemistry II), CHM116(General Chemistry II); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT248(Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity)

BIO481L
Ecology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO481. Some Saturday field trips required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO481(Ecology) concurrent registration is required

BIO485
Advanced Topics in Biology
2 Semester Credits
An exploration of advanced topics in biology. Students will learn the foundational concepts of a topic of ongoing research in the biological sciences, and apply that knowledge as they read and discuss current scientific literature in that subject. Check Records and Registration for the topic and title of a given section. This course is repeatable.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO151(Introductory Biology), BIO152(Evolution, Ecology and Diversity), BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO255(Genetics)

BIO486
Immunology
4 Semester Credits
A study of the mechanisms by which the immune system can recognize and neutralize or destroy foreign molecules and organisms. Aspects of immune dysfunction in allergy, autoimmunity, cancer and immunodeficiency are included. Concurrent registration in BIO486L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology), BIO255(Genetics)

BIO486L

Immunology Lab
1 Semester Credits
Four hour lab taken concurrently with BIO486.

CAP001
CAP Seminar
0 Semester Credits
Program (CAP). During individual meetings, students will work with an academic skills coach to develop study skills, address affective needs, and transition to college life. Meeting time is arranged with skills coach. (.0 course; P/N grading only; Prereq: conditional admit status).
CCS – Languages and Cross-Cultural Studies

CCS100
Introduction to Cultural Studies
4 Semester Credits
This course is an introduction to the critical study of cultures and cross-cultural difference. It examines the connections between social relations and the production of meaning. It sets the stage for global citizenship by revealing how our "position" in the world affects the way we view, interpret, and interact with other cultures.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): CHM102(Chemistry for Changing Times) concurrent registration is required

CHM115
General Chemistry I
4 Semester Credits
This is the entry course for chemistry and related science majors, including biology and physics. Course topics include an introduction to matter and measurements, chemical equations, stoichiometry, energetics, electronic structure, and bonding theory. High school chemistry recommended. Note: must earn credit for both 115 and 115L to count as NSM-LAF. (Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

CHM115L
General Chemistry I Lab
1 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM115(General Chemistry I) concurrent registration is acceptable, SCI114(Exploring Science and Engineering) concurrent registration is required

CHM116
General Chemistry II
4 Semester Credits
A continuation of Chemistry 115. Emphasis on equilibrium and solution chemistry including kinetics and electrochemistry. Note: must earn credit for both 116 and 116L to count as NSM-LAF.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM115L(General Chemistry I Lab), CHM115L(General Chemistry I Lab); CHM115(General Chemistry I)

CHM116L
General Chemistry II Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): CHM116(General Chemistry II) concurrent registration is acceptable

CHM199
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

CHM251
Organic Chemistry I
4 Semester Credits
Basic periodic trends and bonding principles are emphasized with focus on the first row elements. Spectroscopic and separation methods are introduced for both functional group and structural analysis of organic compounds, including IR, MS, GC, NMR, and chromatography. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116(General Chemistry II)

CHM251L
Organic Chemistry I Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM251(Organic Chemistry I) concurrent registration is acceptable

CHM252
Organic Chemistry II
4 Semester Credits
Organic functional groups are analyzed in multi-step synthesis. Retro-synthetic analysis is emphasized and practiced including oxidations, reductions, substitutions, eliminations, and aldol reactions. (Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM251(Organic Chemistry I), CHM351(Organic Chemistry I); 1 of CHM251L(Organic Chemistry I Lab), CHM351L(Organic Chemistry I Lab)

CHM252L
Organic Chemistry II Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM252(Organic Chemistry II) concurrent registration is acceptable

CHM280
Quantitative Analytical Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
Covers gravimetric and volumetric analysis and solution equilibrium in detail and gives an introduction to electrochemical and spectrophotometric techniques of analysis. The laboratory involves quantitative analysis of a variety of samples, and includes trace analysis. (Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab); 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); CHM116(General Chemistry II)

CHM280L
Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CHM280(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry) concurrent registration is acceptable

CHM299
Directed Study
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

CHM362
Physical Chemistry: Macroscopic Theory
4 Semester Credits
Studies fundamental macroscopic theories and concepts of physical chemistry with a focus on thermodynamics and kinetics. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab); CHM116(General Chemistry II), MAT146(Calculus II), PHY122(General Physics II)

CHM368
Physical Chemistry: Microscopic Theory
4 Semester Credits
Studies fundamental microscopic theories and concepts of physical chemistry with a focus on quantum mechanics, molecular structure, spectroscopy, and statistical mechanics. (Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab); CHM116(General Chemistry II), MAT146(Calculus II), PHY122(General Physics II)

CHM369
Biochemistry
4 Semester Credits
The course addresses the chemical structure and function of the major biological macromolecules. Key topic areas are protein structure and function, enzyme mechanisms, thermodynamics, intermediary metabolism, and metabolic regulation. Concurrent registration in CHM369L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM251(Organic Chemistry I), CHM351(Organic Chemistry I); 1 of CHM251L(Organic Chemistry I Lab), CHM351L(Organic Chemistry I Lab); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MAT145(Calculus I), MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Biostatistics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I); BIO253(Introductory Cellular Biology)

CHM369L
Biochemistry Lab
1 Semester Credits
Concurrent registration in CHM369 is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CHM369(Biochemistry) concurrent registration is required

CHM370
Biochemistry II
4 Semester Credits
Biochemistry II explores structural biology techniques such as protein NMR, crystallography, and fluorescence. Biochemical challenges and applications, such as drug delivery, manipulation of intercellular signaling, and rational design of recombinant protein constructs will be studied. Students will use the primary literature in biochemistry as part of the course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of BIO369(Biochemistry), CHM369(Biochemistry)

CHM397
Internship
2 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab); CHM116(General Chemistry II)

CHM399
Internship
4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab), CHM116L(General Chemistry II Lab); CHM116(General Chemistry II)

CHM430
Advanced Thermodynamic and Separation Lab
2 Semester Credits
A comprehensive lab course that provides hands-on experience in advanced topics in physical chemistry (kinetics and thermodynamics) and analytical chemistry (separation science and electrochemistry). 4-hr lab with a 1-hr recitation session each week.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM252(Organic Chemistry II), CHM352(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry); 1 of CHM252L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab), CHM352L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab); 1 of CHM280(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry), CHM353(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab), CHM353L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab)

CHM440
Advanced Synthesis Lab
2 Semester Credits
A comprehensive lab course that provides experiences in advanced synthetic techniques in both organic and inorganic chemistry. 4-hr lab with a 1-hr recitation session each week.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM252(Organic Chemistry II), CHM352(Organic Chemistry II); 1 of CHM252L(Organic Chemistry II Lab), CHM352L(Organic Chemistry II Lab); 1 of CHM280(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry), CHM353(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry); 1 of CHM280L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab), CHM353L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab)

CHM450
Advanced Spectroscopy and Computational Chemistry Lab
2 Semester Credits
A comprehensive lab course provides hands-on experience in advanced topics in spectroscopic instruments, both commercial and home-built. Students will also be exposed to computational modeling using quantum mechanical principles. 4-hr lab with a 1-hr recitation session each week.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM252(Organic Chemistry II), CHM352(Organic Chemistry II); 1 of CHM252L(Organic Chemistry II Lab), CHM352L(Organic Chemistry II Lab); 1 of CHM280(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry), CHM353(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry); 1 of CHM280L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab), CHM353L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab)

CHM464
Advanced Organic Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
Study of advanced mechanistic analyses and physical organic chemistry principles of modern synthetic transformations. (Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM252(Organic Chemistry II), CHM352(Organic Chemistry II); 1 of CHM252L(Organic Chemistry II Lab), CHM352L(Organic Chemistry II Lab)

CHM481
Instrumental Analysis
4 Semester Credits
Emphasis on instrumental methods of analysis. Atomic, molecular, and electron spectroscopy, chromatography, electroanalytical, and surface analysis methods are covered. (Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM280(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry), CHM353(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry); 1 of CHM280L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab), CHM353L(Quantitative Analytical Chemistry Lab)

CHM482
Advanced Inorganic Chemistry
4 Semester Credits
Study of inorganic bonding and structural models, and a survey of inorganic substances and their reactions. Reactivity and bonding in coordination, cluster, and organometallic compounds are considered. (Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CHM252(Organic Chemistry II), CHM352(Organic Chemistry II); 1 of CHM252L(Organic Chemistry II Lab), CHM352L(Organic Chemistry II Lab); 1 of CHM362(Chemical Thermodynamics, Statistical Mechanics, and Kinetics), CHM368(Quantum Chemistry, Molecular Structure, and Spectroscopy)

CHM488
Special Topics in Biochemistry
2 Semester Credits
Courses covering special topics in biochemistry not otherwise covered by other course offerings. Topics vary.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

CHM489
Special Topics in Biochemistry
4 Semester Credits
Courses covering special topics in biochemistry not otherwise covered by other course offerings. Topics vary.

CHM491
Chemistry Seminar
0.5 Semester Credits
This seminar is a weekly meeting of chemistry majors under the direction of the Augsburg Chemistry Society. Juniors and seniors are expected to participate, with seniors presenting papers. Outside visitors are also invited to participate.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

CHM494
Topics
2 Semester Credits
Study of a specific area building upon inorganic, analytical, physical, or organic chemistry.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

CHM495
Topics
4 Semester Credits
Study of a specific area building upon inorganic, analytical, physical, or organic chemistry.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

CHM497
Independent Study/Research
0 Semester Credits
Chemistry majors planning research careers need research experience before graduation that may be obtained by working on a summer research project (not counted as a course) or by research participation during the academic year (that may be counted as a course). Cooperative education is an excellent opportunity to be involved in industrial research projects.
Core Curriculum Component: None

COM – Communication Studies

COM100
Journalism Practicum
1 Semester Credits
The practicum course is for any student who wishes to gain credit for significant contributions to a specific campus organization while developing specific communication skills.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

COM101
Sports Production Practicum
1 Semester Credits
The practicum course is for any student who wishes to gain credit for significant contributions to a specific campus organization while developing specific communication skills.

COM111
Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
The course focuses on speech preparation, organization, audience analysis, style, listening, and overcoming speech fright. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit. (Fall, spring)

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Humanities

COM112
Contest Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
Theory and practice of preparing speeches for delivery in formal and contest situations. Students are expected to attend three interscholastic speech tournaments and compete in at least two of the following: informative speaking, persuasive speaking, speaking to entertain, and/or communication analysis. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit. (Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None

COM115
Scientific and Technical Public Speaking
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to public speaking for students majoring in scientific or technical fields. Includes the same foundational material as introduction to public speaking, including: delivery, argumentation, persuasion, and audience analysis. This material is then applied to specific contexts common in technical fields, with special attention to distinguishing expert or lay audiences, and the use of technical vocabulary and notation systems. Note: Students may take only one of either COM 111, COM 112, or COM 115 for credit.

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Humanities

COM120
Mass Media and Popular Culture
4 Semester Credits
This course is a survey of the mass media in popular culture. Students will examine the different types of mass media and will gain an understanding of what popular culture is and why it is important. The course examines the importance of media criticism and the impact that media have had on culture and society. Students are encouraged to think critically about media and media consumption.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

COM199
Internship

COM243
Studio Production
This is an introductory television production course utilizing three cameras in a live studio environment. This course emphasizes the demands of live television production, such as collaborative team effort, pre-production, time management, and meeting deadlines. Through a series of exercises, students learn the skills required to produce a live 30-minute news magazine program. (Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM247
Documentary History and Theory
4 Semester Credits
This course studies the history of film’s nonfiction art form, as well as the theoretical methods of engaging the world through a lens. Through the study of selected documentaries, students will identify and analyze the filmmaker’s point of view and the methods used to deliver the message.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM254
Interpersonal Communication
4 Semester Credits
A study of the dynamics of human interaction through verbal and non-verbal messages; emphasis on factors that build relationships and help to overcome communication barriers.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM260
Environmental Communication
4 Semester Credits
We are bombarded with messages about the natural world every day from many different sources. Environmental communication comes to us through commercials, television, movies, public policy debates, the scientific and technical sphere, and social media. Environmental messages originate from groups, organizations and individuals with a variety of goals. COM 260 encourages a deeper understanding of our relationship with the world around us.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM280
Introduction to Communication Studies
4 Semester Credits
An introductory survey course designed to acquaint students with the world of ideas that serves as the foundation for the field of communication studies.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities
Prerequisite(s): None

COM281
Research Methods
4 Semester Credits
This course focuses on the differing methods used by communication scholars to ask and answer questions about the nature of human interaction. It examines various types of research methods, both qualitative and quantitative, such as experimental research, survey research, ethnographic research, textual analysis, content analysis, and historical/critical research.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Family Communication
4 Semester Credits
This course is an introduction to communication phenomena in the setting of the family. The overall goal is to help build an understanding of how we develop, maintain, enhance, or disturb family relationships through communication processes. Students will learn about theories focusing on the communication patterns and practices that constitute family life.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

COM321
Business and Professional Speaking
4 Semester Credits
Course explores the skills, research and forms of communication common in business and professional careers. Students will learn how to produce effective speeches, conduct interviews, run meetings, and create written professional communication. Emphasis on specialized communication skills, including: interviewing, professional networking, sales speeches, persuasive policy speeches, business concept or proposal pitches, leading business meetings, etc. Also includes common uses of social media research, organizational communication theory, power and communication structures, and the styles and techniques of effective management/leadership.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking)

COM329
Intercultural Communication
4 Semester Credits
This course explores cultural differences and their implications for communication, including differences in values, norms, social interaction, and code systems.

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): None
COM345
Organizational Communication
4 Semester Credits
An examination of communication in organizational settings. Focuses on topics such as superior-subordinate relationships, management styles, motivation of employees, organizational culture, effective use of meetings, and sources of communication problems.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM351
Argumentation
4 Semester Credits
Develops critical thinking skills by study of the theory and practice of argument, evidence, fallacies, and refutation. Includes how to build and analyze public arguments that confront students in their everyday lives.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); COM280(Introduction to Communication Studies)

COM352
Persuasion
4 Semester Credits
Examination of the process of influence in a variety of social contexts, paying special attention to the psychological aspects of persuasion.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking); 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); COM280(Introduction to Communication Studies), COM281(Research Methods)

COM355
Small Group Communication
4 Semester Credits
A study of group dynamics and leadership with emphasis on decision making, leadership styles, and conflict management.

Nonverbal Communication
4 Semester Credits
This course focuses on the nonverbal elements of communication. Nonverbal communication encompasses all communication except the spoken word. In order to fully explore the functions of nonverbal communication in everyday life, students will conduct a research project that looks at nonverbal communication in depth.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): COM281(Research Methods)

COM415
Advanced Critical Media Studies
4 Semester Credits
This course explores the role that various media, such as film, television, and the internet play in shaping and influencing society. Topics covered include theories of influence and effects, representations of gender, race, and class, ownership and democracy, and new media. After taking this course, students should possess heightened understanding and appreciation of media’s significance and impact in the world.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM120(Mass Media and Popular Culture), NMS220(Foundations of New Media)

COM480
Public Relations/Promotional Communication
4 Semester Credits
Public relations in the modern world of communication, marketing, and business. An overview of public relations as a career and a survey of basic promotional communication in profit and nonprofit organizations.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

COM490
Keystone: Critical Conversations about Vocation
4 Semester Credits
A synthesis of communication theories and application of those theories to each student’s sense of vocation. This course satisfies the Keystone requirement.
Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM351(Argumentation), COM352(Persuasion)

COM495
Communication Topics

CSC – Computer Science

CSC160
Introduction to Computer Science and Communication
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to computer science topics in hardware, software, theory, and computer communications: algorithm design, logical circuits, network concepts, the Internet, and programming.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

CSC165
Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to Computer Science, thinking algorithmically, and using a structured, high-level programming language (Python) to implement algorithms. Emphasis on how to design, code, debug, and document computer programs to solve problems from a wide range of disciplines and to appreciate the power of computation. Concurrent registration in CSC 165L is required.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

CSC165L
Introduction to Computer Programming (Python) Lab
0 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): CSC165 (Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)) concurrent registration is required

CSC170
Introduction to Object-Oriented Programming (Java)
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to programming in an object-oriented language (Java). Concepts of encapsulation, abstraction, inheritance, and polymorphism applied to design, code, debug, and document computer programs. Concurrent registration in CSC 170L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC160 (Introduction to Computer Science and Communication), CSC165 (Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)); 1 of MAT105 (Applied Algebra), MAT106 (Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL (Math Placement Level 3)

CSC170L

CSC210
Data Structures
4 Semester Credits
Data structures such as linked lists, stacks, and queues; recursion. Concurrent registration in CSC210L is required. (Three hours of lecture, one-and-one-half hours of lab.)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC160 (Introduction to Computer Science and Communication), CSC165 (Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)); 1 of MAT114 (Precalculus), MPL (Math Placement Level 4); CSC170 (Introduction to Programming)

CSC210L
Data Structures Lab
0 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CSC210 (Data Structures) concurrent registration is required

CSC240
Information Security and Assurance
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to data communication with a focus on essential Information Security and Information Assurance. Experience working with networks, information security and information assurance through practical and real-world scenarios. Topics typically include applied networking fundamentals, applied fundamentals of distributed systems, applied fundamentals of cloud systems, cyber attacks and countermeasures, scripting and automation, legal and ethical considerations, data and user privacy, cyber forensics, risk assessment/management, and recovery management.
Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC160(Introduction to Computer Science and Communication), CSC165(Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)), CSC170(Introduction to Object-Oriented Programming (Java)); 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

CSC250
Game Programming on the Web
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to game design, HTML5, Javascript, cascading style sheets, HTML5 Canvas, theories of game mechanics and fiction, psychological flow, game engines, interfaces, knowledge creation, complex decisions, relation of Java to JavaScript, and videogame history. Prerequisite: CSC 170 or equivalent.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC165(Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)), CSC170(Introduction to Object-Oriented Programming (Java))

CSC272
UNIX and C
4 Semester Credits
Study of UNIX operating system and the C programming language. It is assumed that the student has a knowledge of programming methods and has done programming in some other language.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); CSC170(Introduction to Programming)

CSC299

CSC320
Algorithms
4 Semester Credits
A systematic study of algorithms and their complexity, including searching and sorting algorithms, mathematical algorithms, scheduling algorithms, and tree and graph traversal algorithms. The classes P and NP, NP-complete problems, and intractable problems.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); CSC210(Data Structures)

CSC345
Principles of Computer Organization
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to computer architecture, binary representation of data, processors, instruction sets, and assembly language programming.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); CSC210(Data Structures)

CSC352
Database Management and Design
4 Semester Credits
Structure of database management systems, query facilities, file organization and security, and the development of database systems.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); CSC170(Introduction to Programming)

CSC353
Database Architecture and Design
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the physical design and tuning of database systems. Topics include data storage, indexing, query processing, and transaction processing with a focus on the relation database. Advanced topics include security, other types of databases (e.g., distributed databases, client-server architectures, object-oriented), emerging technologies, and applications.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); CSC170(Introduction to Programming)

CSC373
Symbolic Programming and Artificial Intelligence
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to programming in functional, symbolic languages, such as Lisp or Scheme. A study of the foundation algorithms used in the field of artificial intelligence. Applications to selected problems from artificial intelligence.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); CSC210(Data Structures), CSC320(Algorithms)

CSC385
Formal Logic and Computation Theory
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to sentential and first-order logic including logical connectives, proof theory, and quantification. Formal models of computation including finite state automata, pushdown automata, and Turing machines. Incompleteness and uncomputability.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); CSC210(Data Structures)

Introduction to AI Robotics
4 Semester Credits
Robot components, robotic paradigms, mobile robots, task planning, sensing, sensor fusion, basic control concepts.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); CSC210(Data Structures)

CSC443
Software Engineering
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to Software Engineering -- the design, development, testing, use, and management of software systems. Emphasis on creating intuitive, useful, well-tested, and accessible software that is adaptable, distributive, extensible, and maintainable. Includes semester-long team project.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): CSC320(Algorithms), CSC345(Principles of Computer Organization)

CSC450
Programming Languages
4 Semester Credits

Principles that govern the design and implementation of programming languages including formal syntax specification, typing, scoping, and parameter passing. Study of the major paradigms of programming languages by designing and coding solutions in various programming languages such as Java, Python, Html5/CSS/Javascript, LISP, Prolog, and SQL along with using a meta-programming language such as Flex.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); CSC320(Algorithms), CSC345(concurrent enrollment or prior completion)

CSC451

Compilers

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of the compiling process including computation theory, automata required for language translation, and computing run-time environments, along with the data and control structures necessary to implement a compiler. Includes semester-long project building a complete, functional compiler.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone

Prerequisite(s): CSC450(Programming Languages and Compilers I)

CSC457

Computer Graphics

4 Semester Credits

A study of the foundational algorithms required for computer graphics. Topics include geometric algorithms, geometric modeling, graphics techniques, graphical user interfaces, human-centered software development, computer animation, virtual environments and 3D immersive rendering.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Level 4); CSC210(Data Structures)

CSC495

Advanced Topics in Computer Science

4 Semester Credits

Study of advanced topics from areas of computer science not included in other courses. This course may be repeated, but may not be counted more than twice as part of the requirements for the major.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC320(Algorithms), CSC345(Principles of Computer Organization)

Teaching in a Diverse World

4 Semester Credits

This course is designed to engage students in both an examination and critique of their own schooling and education. It is meant to support students in developing a socio-political consciousness necessary for successful teaching in a diverse society (Ladson-Billings, 1995). Students in this course will be asked to come to a better understanding of their own desires to become educated people while simultaneously learning to critically examine the pathways and barriers that exist for students of color and other marginalized youth in schools today. Through participatory action research, students will explore a self-directed method of inquiry (problem-posing, problem solving) and hopefully learn how to claim their own education.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

EDC200
Orientation to Education in an Urban Setting
3 Semester Credits
Career exploration and overview of the teaching profession. Emphasis on historical and philosophical foundations of the American school system. Field service experience in an urban P-12 school is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis

ENV – Environmental Studies

ENV100
Environmental Connections
4 Semester Credits
An interdisciplinary introduction to current environmental issues. The course depends on ecological visions of the world and examines the connections we share as people living simultaneously in human community and in physical environments. In examining these connections, we depend on the insights offered by political science, biology, economics, literature, sociology, chemistry, and history as well as experiential education and service-learning. The issues examined in this class — neither remote nor abstract — exist in our everyday lives, and a central feature of the course is the application of knowledge gained in the class to a campus project.

Food: A Global History
4 Semester Credits
This course explores the human and historical dimensions of food. The cultivation and control of food supplies is a basic function of all organized societies and polities. Shared food traditions and tastes shape cultural identities of particular groups. In short, food is at the center of human existence, and human history can be told as a story of how food has been produced, distributed and consumed. Taking a broad approach, the course traces changes in taste, production, trade and consumption, from the Paleolithic period to the twentieth century. With case studies drawn from China, South Asia, Europe, and the Americas, it offers a global narrative of world food history. Students will learn about the fascinating histories certain key foodstuffs (e.g. sugar, wheat, chocolate, potatoes, bugs, etc.) and examine a number of critical themes, including consumerism, taste, industrialism, famine, and dieting. Learning will be enhanced by experiential components, including cooking, gardening, and visiting lectures. The course will introduce the concepts of historical thinking, using the “IGRASP” methodology (Inquire / Gather / Reflect / Analyze / Synthesize / Present.)

HPE316
Human Sexuality
4 Semester Credits
A study of the psychological, social, and biological components of human sexuality. (Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

HPE320
School Health Curriculum
2 Semester Credits
Techniques for developing a course of study in school health based upon growth and development for grades K-12. Examination of national standards and pedagogy for health education, curriculum, and assessment included. (Fall even years)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): HPE110(Personal and Community Health)

HPE324
K-6 PE Games and Activities
2 Semester Credits
This course integrates theory and practice in teaching age- and skill-appropriate activities to elementary students. Fieldwork experience is a requirement in this course. (Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): HPE104(Components of Fitness Training), HPE205(Introduction to Health, Physical Education, and Exercise Science)

HPE334
7-12 Sport Skills and Activities
2 Semester Credits
Theory and practice in skills and teaching selected games and activities. Fieldwork experience is a requirement in this course. (Fall)

HPE357
Measurement in Health, Physical Education, and Exercise Science
2 Semester Credits
Concepts of statistics and the use of statistical procedures in health and physical education programs. Topics include descriptive statistics, probability, estimation, ANOVA, correlation, Chi-Square, and nonparametric methods. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of HPE110 (Personal and Community Health), HPE205 (Introduction to Health, Physical Education, and Exercise Science); 1 of MAT105 (Applied Algebra), MAT106 (Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL (Math Placement Level 3); HPE104 (Components of Fitness Training)

HPE358
Assessment in Health and Physical Education
2 Semester Credits
Standards, assessment, and evaluation of tests in health and physical education. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of HPE110 (Personal and Community Health), HPE205 (Introduction to Health, Physical Education, and Exercise Science); HPE104 (Components of Fitness Training), HPE357 (Measurement in Health, Physical Education, and Exercise Science) concurrent registration is required

HPE365
Physical Education Methods K-6
4 Semester Credits
Procedures, materials, and issues for teaching physical education in grades K-6. An in-depth view of all aspects of teaching physical education to elementary-aged children. Fieldwork experience is a requirement in this course. (Fall)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): HPE104 (Components of Fitness Training), HPE324 (K-6 PE Games and Activities)

HPE368
Physical Education Methods 7-12
4 Semester Credits
Procedures, materials, and issues involved in teaching physical education in secondary schools. An in-depth view of all aspects of teaching physical education to secondary-aged students. Fieldwork experience is a requirement in this course. (Spring)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): HPE104 (Components of Fitness Training), HPE334 (7-12 Sport Skills and Activities)

Current Health Issues
2 Semester Credits

This course uses critical thinking skills to examine current health issues in text and media from a sociological, political, economic, and medical perspective.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): HPE110(Personal and Community Health)

HPE452
Advanced Biomechanics
2 Semester Credits
This course will introduce students to advanced biomechanical analysis of sports movement and injury with an emphasis on the use of the musculoskeletal system. Movement kinematics and kinetics will be described using Dartfish motion analysis software and applied to physical education and health and fitness professions; particularly in terms of sports movement technique, common sports injury mechanisms, and injury prevention.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): HPE350(Kinesiology)

HPE473
Physical Education Curriculum
2 Semester Credits
Techniques for developing a course of study in physical education based upon growth and development for grades K-12. Examination of National Standards and pedagogy for physical education, curriculum, and assessment included.

HUM – Humanities

HUM120
Medieval Life in 12th-Century Europe
4 Semester Credits
This is the introductory course for medieval studies. It uses an interdisciplinary approach to study European culture during a period known as the High Middle Ages, roughly AD 1100 to 1300. It attempts to examine medieval culture as a complex system of thought and feeling, which includes history, religion, philosophy, literature, art, theatre, music, and food. It also takes an experiential approach to this material, for example, by having students and faculty attend class in academic regalia, just as they did in medieval universities.

Keystone: Medieval Studies Project
4 Semester Credits

The final project in medieval studies functions like an independent study. Because medieval studies is an interdisciplinary major, the final project must be also be interdisciplinary. Students are free to choose any topic connected to the Middle Ages, but must examine it with professors from at least three different disciplines. The traditional disciplines that comprise medieval studies are art history, English, history, music history, philosophy, religion, and theater history, but students have also completed projects involving professors from other disciplines, such as sociology and psychology. Experiential approaches are encouraged but not required. For example, past students have built medieval musical instruments, medieval suits of armor, and Renaissance commedia dell’arte masks, and then written about the process.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone

KEY480
Topics in Global Interdependence

4 Semester Credits

This cross-cultural keystone seminar prepares students to "act globally" by challenging them to apply the diverse perspectives acquired while studying abroad and to analyze issues that transcend national boundaries. In English with readings in a language other than English. Open to international students and to upper-division students who have advanced knowledge of a language other than English or have studied abroad for a full semester (including in English-speaking countries with consent of instructor).

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): None

KEY490
Vocation and the Meaning of Success
4 Semester Credits
This course is the keystone course for business majors and other majors where the major program does not include a keystone element. It draws together all facets of a student’s education by providing opportunities to reflect upon and write about the integration of one’s classes, life, and future. Readings and critical discussions with others in the same and in different majors will add dimension to each student’s reflective writing.

MAT – Mathematics

MAT103
Prealgebra
3 Semester Credits

A fast-paced review of basic mathematical skills and concepts including integers, fractions, decimal numbers, ratios, percents, order of operations, exponents, and an introduction to algebraic expressions, equations, and graphs with an emphasis on applications to everyday life. P/N grading only. Prior experience with high school algebra is assumed. MAT 103 does not count as credit toward graduation. Grade of P advances student to MPG2. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MPL(Math Placement Level 1)

MAT105
Applied Algebra
3 Semester Credits

Concepts of linear, exponential, logarithmic, and other models with an emphasis on applications to the social and natural sciences, business, and everyday life. Grade of C- or higher advances student to MPG3. Students preparing for MAT 114 should consult the department. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF. Students who have successfully completed MAT 106 may not register for credit.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Prealgebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

MAT106
Applied Algebra and Trigonometry

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of linear, exponential, logarithmic, trigonometric, and other models with an emphasis on applications to the natural sciences, economics, and finance. Grade of C- or higher advances student to MPG3. Intended for students planning to continue to MAT 114 Precalculus. Students already in MPG3 should consult the department or Academic Advising Center before enrolling. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF. Students who have successfully completed MAT 105 may not register for credit.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Prealgebra), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

MAT110

Finite Mathematics

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of introductory linear algebra and elementary probability theory. Focuses on applications to business, economics, and social science, with an emphasis on developing quantitative skills needed for further study in those areas. Topics include linear equations, systems of linear equations, graphing lines and linear inequalities, matrices, sets, counting, probability axioms, conditional probability, Bayes' theorem, and applications such as supply/demand, break-even analysis, input-output analysis, least squares, linear programming, Markov chains, game theory, or financial mathematics. Students who have completed MAT 246 or MAT 373 may not register for credit.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Group 3)

MAT111

Mathematics in Society

4 Semester Credits

Using mathematics to understand quantitative information in daily life and current issues facing society. Concepts include an introduction to probability and statistics, financial mathematics, and other applications, with an emphasis on developing skills in quantitative reasoning. Students who have successfully completed a course in introductory statistics (MAT 163, MAT 164, SOC 362, PSY 215, MIS379) may not register for credit.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Group 3)

MAT114

Precalculus

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of algebraic, exponential, logarithmic, and trigonometric functions for students planning to study calculus. Students who have completed MAT 145 or other calculus courses may register for credit only with consent of department. Grade of C- or higher advances student to MPG4.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT137
Mathematics for Elementary Teachers I
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of number, operations, algebra, geometry, measurement, data analysis, and probability with an emphasis on the processes of problem solving, reasoning, connections, communication, and representation. MAT 137 and MAT 138 are courses designed for prospective K-6 elementary school teachers.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT138
Mathematics for Elementary Teachers II
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of number, operations, algebra, geometry, measurement, data analysis, and probability with an emphasis on the processes of problem solving, reasoning, connections, communication, and representation. MAT 137 and MAT 138 are courses designed for prospective K-6 elementary school teachers.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT140
Calculus Workshop
1 Semester Credits
An elective workshop for students concurrently enrolled in Calculus I or Calculus II. Calculus-related problems and activities that require significant collaborative and creative effort. Emphasis on strategies for succeeding in college-level mathematics courses. This course does not meet a NSM-LAF and does not meet QF.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT145(Calculus I) concurrent registration is required, MAT146(Calculus II) concurrent registration is required

MAT145
Calculus I
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of calculus focusing on differentiation; topics include limits, derivatives, their applications, and introduction to integrals. Concurrent enrollment in MAT145L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Level 4)

MAT145L

Prerequisite(s): MAT145(Concurrent enrollment required) concurrent registration is required
MAT146
Calculus II
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of calculus focusing on integration; topics include techniques of integration, applications of integrals, differential equations, infinite series, and polar curves. Concurrent enrollment in MAT146L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): MAT145 (Calculus I)

MAT146L
Calculus II Lab
0 Semester Credits
Concurrent enrollment in MAT146 is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT146 (Calculus II) concurrent registration is required

MAT163
Introductory Statistics
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of elementary statistics, with an emphasis on working with data and understanding the role of variability. Topics include descriptive statistics, data visualization, confounding and causal associations, confidence intervals, hypothesis testing, regression, and the use of modern computational tools in statistics. Students who have successfully completed MAT164, MIS379, PSY215, or SOC362 may not register for credit in MAT163.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105 (Applied Algebra), MAT106 (Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL (Math Placement Level 3)

MAT164
Introductory Statistics for STEM
4 Semester Credits
Concepts and techniques of elementary statistics, with an emphasis on working with scientific data and understanding the role of variability. Topics include descriptive statistics, data visualization, probability distributions, simulation, experimental design, confidence intervals, hypothesis testing, analysis-of-variance, regression, and the use of modern computational tools in statistics. This course is designed for prospective Science, Technology, Engineering, or Mathematics (STEM) majors or anyone interested in a more scientific introduction to statistics. Students who have successfully completed MAT163, MAT248, MIS379, PSY215, or SOC362 may not register for credit in MAT164.

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114 (Precalculus), MPL (Math Placement Group)

MAT171
Discrete Mathematics For Computing
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of discrete mathematics including binary representations, sequences, recursion, induction, formal logic, and combinatorics, with an emphasis on connections to computer science. Completion of one of CSC160, CSC165, or CSC170 is recommended prior to MAT171. Students who have completed MAT271 may not register for credit.
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT173
Mathematics of Finance
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of elementary financial mathematics such as annuities, loan payments, mortgages, life annuities, and life insurance. Provides an introduction to actuarial mathematics.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

MAT199
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Work-based learning experience that links the ideas and methods of mathematics to the opportunities found in the internship.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

MAT201
Communicating Mathematics
2 Semester Credits
An introduction to mathematical speaking, typesetting, presentation technology, reading, and bibliographic resources. This course does not count as an elective in the mathematics major or minor. Completion of this course plus any theoretical structure or applied project course satisfies the major's speaking skill requirement. Students with majors other than mathematics should consult their major department before taking this course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT213
Data Visualization and Statistical Computing
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of communicating with data visually, with an emphasis on computational techniques. Topics include data management, visualizations of maps and networks, data scraping, programming bootstrap and randomizations, creating animated Gifs.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); 1 of MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Statistics for STEM), MIS379(Quantitative Methods for Business and Economics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I), SOC362(Statistical Analysis)

MAT245
Calculus III
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of multivariable calculus including functions of several variables, partial derivatives, vectors and the gradient, multiple integrals, and parametric representations.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT246
Linear Algebra

4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT252
Exploring Geometry

4 Semester Credits
Concepts of geometry including Euclidean and non-Euclidean geometries and geometric transformations with an emphasis on geometric reasoning, conjecturing, and proof.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT145(Calculus I)

MAT271
Discrete Mathematical Structures

4 Semester Credits
Concepts of discrete mathematics including number theory, combinatorics, graph theory, recursion theory, set theory, and formal logic, with an emphasis on algorithmic thinking, mathematical reasoning, conjecturing, and proof.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT145(Calculus I)

MAT273
Statistical Modeling

4 Semester Credits
Concepts of selecting, assessing the fit, and evaluating statistical models. Topics studied include statistical model transformations, outlier detection, hypothesis testing and confidence interval construction, evaluation of multicollinearity and correlated predictors on model results, and one-way and multi-Factor ANOVA to assess relationships among quantitative response variables and categorical predictor variables. This course includes several small group projects culminating with a final group project.

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); 1 of MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Statistics for STEM), MIS379(Quantitative Methods for Business and Economics), PSY215(Research Methods and Statistics I), SOC362(Statistical Analysis)

MAT287
History of Mathematics
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of historical importance from the areas of geometry, number theory, algebra, calculus, and modern mathematics.

Prerequisite(s): MAT145 (Calculus I)

MAT304
Graph Theory
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of graph theory including standard graphs, classic questions, and topics such as degree sequences, isomorphism, connectivity, traversability, matching, planarity, coloring, and graph metrics. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111 (Public Speaking), COM112 (Contest Public Speaking), COM115 (Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130 (Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201 (Communicating Mathematics); 1 of ENG111 (Effective Writing), ENL111 (Effective Writing), ENL112 (Advanced Effective Writing), HON111 (Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL (Writing Placement Level); MAT271 (Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT314
Abstract Algebra
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of algebra including the abstract structures of groups, rings, integral domains, and fields. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111 (Effective Writing), ENL111 (Effective Writing), ENL112 (Advanced Effective Writing), HON111 (Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL (Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111 (Public Speaking), COM112 (Contest Public Speaking), COM115 (Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130 (Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201 (Communicating Mathematics); MAT246 (Linear Algebra), MAT271 (Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT324
Analysis
4 Semester Credits
Concepts of real analysis including limits, boundedness, continuity, functions, derivatives, and series in a theoretical setting. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111 (Effective Writing), ENL111 (Effective Writing), ENL112 (Advanced Effective Writing), HON111 (Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL (Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111 (Public Speaking), COM112 (Contest Public Speaking), COM115 (Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130 (Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201 (Communicating Mathematics); MAT146 (Calculus II), MAT271 (Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT355
Numerical Mathematics and Computation
4 Semester Credits

Concepts such as polynomial interpolation, numerical differentiation and integration, numerical solution of differential equations, error propagation, practical implementation of numerical methods on modern computers, and applications.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC165(Introduction to Computer Programming (Python)), CSC170(Introduction to Object-Oriented Programming (Java)); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT363

Dynamical Systems

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of dynamical systems including iteration, stability, orbit diagrams, symbolic dynamics, chaos, and fractals, along with topics such as applications of dynamical systems and/or complex dynamics including the Mandelbrot set and Julia sets. Focuses on theoretical structures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT146(Calculus II), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT369

Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of differential equations including quantitative and qualitative solution method of linear and non-linear systems; the application, modeling, and analysis of differential equations to model biological phenomena.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT373

Probability Theory

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of probability including methods of enumeration, random variables, probability distributions, simulation of random processes, expectation, moment generating functions, and the Central Limit Theorem.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT374

Statistical Theory and Applications

4 Semester Credits
Concepts of statistical inference including sampling distributions, methods of estimation, confidence intervals, hypothesis testing, linear regression, statistical computing, and practical implementation of statistical theory. Intended for students with some background in elementary statistics.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT373(Probability and Statistics I)

MAT377

Operations Research

4 Semester Credits

Concepts of linear programming and its applications to optimization problems from industrial settings including the simplex method, sensitivity analysis, duality theory, alternate optima, and unboundedness with an emphasis on both the mathematical theory and the application to current business practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT246(Linear Algebra)

MAT394

Topics in Statistics

4 Semester Credits

Study of an advanced topic in statistics such as modeling, design of experiments, or data analysis.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT163(Introductory Statistics), MAT164(Introductory Statistics for STEM), MAT248(Biostatistics), MAT373(Probability and Statistics I); 1 of ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); MAT146(Calculus II)

MAT395

Topics

4 Semester Credits

Study of an advanced topic such as actuarial mathematics, complex analysis, mathematical biology, combinatorics, topology, or foundations of mathematics.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), HON130(Liberating Letters: Humanist Tradition), MAT201(Communicating Mathematics); 2 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT246(Linear Algebra), MAT252(Exploring Geometry), MAT269(Modeling and Differential Equations), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures), MAT287(History of Mathematics)

Internship
2 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), MAT146(Calculus II), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT399

Internship

4 Semester Credits

Work-based learning experience that links the ideas and methods of mathematics to the opportunities found in the internship. For upper division credit, significant mathematical content and presentation at a departmental colloquium is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), MAT146(Calculus II), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MAT491

Mathematics Colloquium

0 Semester Credits

Information about contemporary applications, career opportunities, and other interesting ideas in mathematics. Presented by outside visitors, faculty members, or students. Carries no course credit.

Independent Study

4 Semester Credits
Selection and study of an advanced topic outside of the offered curriculum with the guidance of a faculty member. Presentation at a departmental colloquium is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 2 of MAT304(Graph Theory), MAT314(Abstract Algebra), MAT324(Analysis), MAT355(Numerical Mathematics and Computation), MAT363(Dynamical Systems), MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), MAT373(Probability and Statistics I), MAT374(Probability and Statistics II), MAT377(Operations Research), MAT394(Topics in Statistics), MAT395(Topics); CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), MAT146(Calculus II), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures)

MBA – Master of Business Administration

MBA510

Applied Managerial Economics
3 Semester Credits
Application of economic tools in solving managerial problems. Topics include markets and organizations, demand and cost functions, demand and supply analysis, game theory and the economics of strategy, pricing incentives, contracts and ethics. Students develop critical thinking skills and a framework for analyzing business decisions.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MBAMATALL(MBA Math - All Sections), MBAMATECO(MBA Math - Economics Section)

MBA520

Accounting for Business Managers
3 Semester Credits
This course will introduce MBA students to managerial accounting in business organizations. The focus of managerial accounting is to provide accounting data to internal decision-makers (managers/employees). External and internal decision-makers use accounting information both to make decisions and to evaluate results of those decisions. Managerial Accounting focuses on the development, interpretation, and application of accounting information for managerial decision-making. The course stresses the use of financial and non-financial information within a variety of organizations for the purposes of understanding and analyzing activities and operations. You will examine the linkages between accounting information and management planning through cost analysis, operational and capital budgeting and performance measurement.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MBAMATACC(MBA Math - Accounting Section), MBAMATALL(MBA Math - All Sections)

MBA530

Managerial Finance
3 Semester Credits
Business Managers need to understand the fundamentals of financial management for optimal decision making. This course covers the major topics in Finance that a business manager is likely to come across. The course begins with an introduction to Financial Management and Time Value of Money. We discuss financial statements and cash-flows, the financial environment of a firm—markets, institutions, interest rates, leading to a discussion of risk and return, security/corporate valuation, strategic investment and financing decisions.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MBAMATALL(MBA Math - All Sections), MBAMATFIN(MBA Math - Finance Section)

MBA532
Investment Theory and Portfolio Management
3 Semester Credits
This course discusses investment background such as the investment setting, asset allocation decision, selecting investments in a global market, and security market indicators, followed by efficient capital markets, portfolio management and asset pricing models, and multi-factor models of risk and return. Security valuation and analysis and management of common stocks and bonds are discussed. The course ends with a discussion of professional asset management and evaluation of portfolio performance.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA535
International Finance
3 Semester Credits
The objective of this course is to acquaint students with macro and micro aspects of international finance. At the macro level, coverage will include theories of direct investment, the international monetary mechanism, foreign exchange markets, and repercussions from balance of payments difficulties. Micro level materials include problems of doing business internationally and a survey of public and private foreign and international financial institutions. Also discussed are the management of risk of multinational operations and their valuation and structure. The course ends with a discussion of international portfolio investment and asset pricing.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA540
Business and Professional Ethics
3 Semester Credits
The history and theories of business ethics. Each class session will utilize assigned readings, articles, case studies, and exercises. We will focus on four primary outcomes for participants in this course: An understanding of the ethical problems faced by people; Convey a means of analysis of ethical problems; Allow students to deliberately, methodically, and reasonably defend their point of view.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA545
Organizational Behavior
3 Semester Credits
In-depth exploration and analysis of major theories, concepts, skills and techniques for organization behavior and development in business and industry, including the conceptual integration and application of these theories. We will often challenge the traditional assumptions of management by discussing current management and organization behavior theories, innovations, trends, and the issues faced by today’s managers.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA550
Marketing Management
3 Semester Credits
Applying marketing theory and practice to real-life marketing situations. Topics include market segmentation, targeting, positioning, distribution of goods and services, the relationship between price and demand, brand management, and marketing plans and strategy. Students gain hands-on experience with marketing in cross-functional organization strategies.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

MBA560
Communication Issues in Management
3 Semester Credits
An ethnographic approach to communication in the workplace including how physical settings, communication channels, institutional goals, institutional culture, and the roles of participants shape communication. Students will use case studies and their own workplace experiences to examine effectiveness, ideologies and biases, network theory, persuasive appeals, and communication of institutional values.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

MBA565
Managing in a Global Environment
3 Semester Credits
Explores the reasons, conditions, processes, and challenges of internationalization from an enterprise perspective. The foci of the course will be international trade theory and institutional governance of international trade/monetary policy, and the differences in political-economic/socio-cultural systems and their implications for international business.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

MBA570
Quantitative Decision-Making for Managers
3 Semester Credits
Apply analytical thinking to a variety of business problems and understand the need for analytical models for business decision-making. Create spreadsheet models to help organize information and solve analytical problems. Topics: Regression Analysis, Forecasting, Project Management, and Inventory Control.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MBAMATALL (MBA Math - All Sections), MBAMATSTA (MBA Math - Statistics Section)

MBA580
Management Consulting Project
3 Semester Credits
MBA 580 is a project-based capstone course meant to serve an integrative role, bringing together all the components of your graduate business education in a summative project. The projects include strategic planning, business plans, marketing plans and a competitive analysis. The Management Consulting Project provides the opportunity to apply your MBA program learning to an actual business organization with real issues and opportunities involving multiple functions. Field Study teams of four to five students will work as management consultants on comprehensive projects for local businesses or community organizations.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MBA583
Entrepreneurship: Execution, Planning and Strategy
3 Semester Credits

This course is intended to provide prospective entrepreneurs with information and tools on how to start a business. The course includes the following: how to evaluate opportunities, choose markets for entry, decide when to enter, and determine what resources and capabilities it will take to enter and provide a platform for future growth. The course is designed to address the needs of students who either hope to pursue start-up opportunities upon graduation or in preparation for entrepreneurial activities at later career stages.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MBA595 (Strategic Management)

MBA592
Leadership: Ethics, Vision, and Transformation
3 Semester Credits

Provides learners with well-rounded, comprehensive leadership skills that will enhance personal and organizational effectiveness. Topics include leadership strategy, critical and distinctive functions and skills of management and leadership, relationship building, servant leadership, leadership communication, and self awareness and discovery of leadership styles, traits and abilities. This class begins the work associated with Student Learning Experience 1. Students will use a variety of assessment tools to learn more about their strengths and weaknesses as a leader. Students will begin their journal and reflect on their personal development plan. The journal begins in this class and will continue in the next three courses.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

MBA595
Strategic Management
3 Semester Credits

We all observe that some organizations (public/private, for profit/not-for-profit) are more successful than others. These organizations generally survive over the long term and meet customer/client needs effectively, securing and maintaining a competitive advantage over alternatives. This is accomplished in the context of an environment that changes rapidly. These organizations continually adapt to new circumstances, usually coordinating change in a variety of different functional areas. Strategy, in its broadest sense, is a major determinant of long-term performance differentials. Strategy matches the organization’s capabilities to its market position, facilitates resource allocation, and provides guidance for decision-making. Student learning experience two is embedded in this course using a business simulation.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

MBA596
Managing Innovation
3 Semester Credits

Understanding innovation as a process and creating the conditions for this process to occur successfully within an organization are the main themes of this course. Learning to integrate design thinking into business that will drive continuous development and improvement, and develop customer/client emotional connections will be the focus of the course. Transforming the business, creating brand value, exceeding customer’s expectations, and creating sustainable, superior competitive advantage through new ways of thinking are the purposes of the course.

MCN – McNair Program

MCN301
Research in the Disciplines
2 Semester Credits
Scholars in this two-credit course will investigate and analyze the process of research, learning ways to choose and focus a research topic and question, skills for reading discipline-specific journal articles and conducting literature reviews, and accepted methods of inquiry and information retrieval. Scholars receive guidance from McNair staff and their Research Faculty Mentor. Scholars may choose to work on their Research Faculty Mentor’s established topic or develop their own question. The semester will culminate in the development of a research proposal, building the scholar’s specific knowledge of the research topic and confidence as a researcher. Scholars participating in an off-campus research experience or internship will be enrolled and have individualized activities as necessary.

MUS – Music

MUS105
Careers in Music Business
4 Semester Credits
Careers in Music Business is a survey course designed to explore the careers in the music business. This course will cover the creative ways that musicians have formed businesses, study of successful individuals within the music business, and pathways to successful music-based businesses. Within these constructs, we will explore methods for creating a life in the music industry.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MUS113
Music Theory and Aural Skills I
4 Semester Credits
Theory & Aural Skills I is the first semester course of a 4-semester theory and musicianship program that serves as the foundation for all music majors. Over the course of the 4-semester sequences, the core music curriculum (theory, ear training, piano courses) students will “do what musicians do.” The students will build musical comprehension by hearing, reading, interpreting, composing, and improvising music; they will develop, and participate in, a community committed to improving musical skills, and learning from one another. Learning these skills will enable lifelong learning, through and beyond music.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

MUS114
Music Theory and Aural Skills II
4 Semester Credits
Theory & Aural Skills II is the second semester course of a 4-semester theory and musicianship program that serves as the foundation for all music majors. We will focus our learning on developing a more refined understanding of the musical language in the Western tradition, with a special focus on issues related to harmony. The main goal is to gain a thorough grasp of music fundamentals and their application to all kinds of music-making (performance, composition, analysis, improvisation).

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MUS113 (Music Theory and Aural Skills I)

MUS130
Introduction to Music in the Fine Arts
E.D. Hirsch describes cultural literacy as “the network of information that all competent readers possess.” This course draws students into that information web using the history of Western art music as the thread that ties culture together from the Middle Ages to the present. A “top ten of the last millennium” will provide mileposts for understanding music in social context. Live performance will be a feature of this course. Evaluation of student work will include short essay papers, several quizzes, and a midterm and final examination. The ability to read music is not required.

Core Curriculum Component: Fine Arts

This course examines transcultural care systems through a complex science lens and a nursing leadership perspective. Organizations and care systems are viewed as complex adaptive systems where continuous change and unpredictability rule development and system-wide evolution. The importance of relationships, the role of self-organization (autopoeisis), and the processes of emergence and co-evolution are explored via readings and class discussion.

Prerequisite(s): None

NUR501P
Practicum: Nursing Leadership in Complex Adaptive Systems
1 Semester Credits
This practicum focuses on leadership skills necessary to lead change in open dynamic networks of care and healing. Reflective practice opportunities are created in emerging care settings.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

NUR505
Theoretical Foundations for Advanced Nursing Practice
3 Semester Credits
This course focuses on nursing science and nursing theory as foundational to advanced transcultural nursing practice. Philosophical underpinnings of different theoretical and research traditions in nursing are compared and related to the provision of culturally competent care in diverse communities. Nursing science is emphasized as a process of theory advancement and as an accumulating body of nursing knowledge.

Prerequisite(s): None

NUR505P
Practicum: Theoretical Foundations for Advanced Nursing Practice
1 Semester Credits
This practicum is designed to expand horizons of meaning and action in the world. Focus is on nursing science and nursing theory as foundational to advanced nursing practice. Embodied ways of knowing, health and healing practices, self-care modalities, and expanding conscious awareness are explored and experienced for practical application in local contexts.

Research Methods in Nursing

3 Semester Credits

Through a combination of literature review, field experience, and class discussion, research methods relevant to the exploration of culture and health will be examined. Class topics will include formulating study questions to explore collective foundations of meaning and explanation in health and illness, practice in data collection procedures of field research, and issues of interpretation and analysis in qualitative research. (Prereq.: college-level statistics course)

Practicum: Research Methods in Nursing

1 Semester Credits

This practicum is associated with NUR 520 and focuses on the research process to benefit the profession of nursing and contribute to the knowledge base for practice. During the NUR 520 course students explore quantitative and qualitative methodologies with an emphasis on utilizing a methodology appropriate to questions of transcultural and transformational practice. In this practicum, students will design a research study proposal based on their nursing practice focus.

Transformational Nursing Leadership

3 Semester Credits

This course emphasizes transformational nursing leadership and management in partnership with diverse groups. Transcultural competence is lifted up as significant to the evolving leadership and planning skills needed in emerging care systems. Opportunities for students to engage in designing relevant models of care delivery are woven into clinical practica.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

Practicum: Transformational Nursing Leadership

1 Semester Credits

This practicum provides opportunities for students to explore nursing leadership styles in collaboration with individuals and teams of health care professionals in a variety of care settings. Participant-observation encourages identification of dominant values and beliefs within care systems and organizations. How values and beliefs influence leadership styles, health outcomes among diverse populations, and work environments are also examined. Leadership styles that foster positive health outcomes and healthy work environments are uplifted.

Prerequisite(s): None

NUR523
Theory, Research, and Practice Seminar
3 Semester Credits
The conceptualization, investigation, and application of nursing knowledge will be critiqued with particular focus on its contribution to developing practice in transcultural community health care. Through reflection and dialogue, which includes professional experience of practice contexts, as well as theoretical and research literature, students will formulate a transcultural nursing model of care. (Prereq.: consent of instructor)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

NUR523P
Practicum: Theory, Practice, Research Seminar
2 Semester Credits
This practicum focuses on the practical application of nursing theory and research to nursing practice. While working with nursing faculty, students begin to fashion their final graduate field project, describing a theory-based care initiative that advances nursing practice in transcultural holistic nursing or transformational nursing leadership.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

NUR525
Graduate Field Project
3 Semester Credits
This course focuses on the application and integration of knowledge to a student-selected issue or topic of concern relevant to transcultural nursing, community health nursing, and/or transformational nursing leadership. This course focuses on a written report of the student’s project that has been developed in the nursing core. Relevant coursework is integrated into the project and the final written report. Plans for disseminating the report for public and professional use are encouraged. Students will defend the project to their graduate committee (major faculty adviser and two readers) and invited guests at the time of completion. (Prereq.: consent of instructor)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

NUR525P
Practicum: Graduate Field Project
2 Semester Credits
This practicum focuses on the completion of the graduate field project related to a selected practice issue relevant to transcultural holistic nursing practice or transformational nursing leadership. Working with nursing faculty, students complete their final written report of a theory-based care initiative that advances nursing practice.

The Power of Ritual and Ceremony for Transformation
3 Semester Credits
In this course, the student will explore ritual and ceremony from a transcultural perspective. Attention will be focused on rituals and ceremonies in specific cultures and religions, and in the modern American medical system that sustains its own rituals. In some cultures, formal or informal religious practices may be integral to the ritual of ceremony and healing. In modern American culture, the perceived division between the mind, body, and spirit has led to ritual and ceremony being considered adjunctive to the scientific approach ritual and ceremony into their lives and health care practices. Students will also discuss the meaning of ritual and ceremony to their own lives and professional practice.

Transcultural Healing and Self Care
3 Semester Credits
This course introduces students to integral healing practices including their historical and cultural contexts. Reflection and dialogue on the philosophical underpinnings of therapeutic systems and paradigms of healing are explored. Potential modalities include: music and art therapy, traditional Chinese medicine, mind-body healing, spiritual practices, energy healing, movement therapies, homeopathy, or massage. Students learn self-care and applications to patient populations.

The Politics of Health Care

3 Semester Credits

This course will explore how health and illness are related to inequities in society and dynamics of power in systems of health care. The following issues will be examined in the course: How widening gaps in the distribution of wealth diminish the health of all members of society; how social inequities become medicalized as health disparities, how an emphasis on profit in health care affects the distribution of healing resources in the population, and what strategies the poor and powerless employ to gain access to health care resources. This course will include an optional study abroad experience in Guatemala.

Practicum: Directed Study

1 Semester Credits

Directed study practica build upon advanced nursing competencies developed at the master’s level to expand and deepen knowledge supporting expert nursing practice. In the practica students will integrate and synthesize knowledge from emic wisdom with the biophysical, psychosocial, analytical, and organizational sciences as the basis for the highest level of transcultural nursing practice. Students are expected to enhance practice and/or systems management skills, including clinical reasoning, and advance to a higher level of expertise in transcultural nursing and community health. As such, directed study practica are individualized to students’ specific areas of interest and are planned by students in consultation with a major faculty advisor, cultural guides, and other mentors in the communities in which they wish to carry out the practicum.

Practicum: Health and Community Building in Guatemala
2 Semester Credits

This practicum explores health as a human right. Analysis will focus on how widening gaps in the distribution of wealth diminishes the health of all members of society. Learning is based on immersion experiences in Guatemala City and highland Mayan communities. Observation, presentations by cultural guides, and classroom discussions will reflect on health and social justice for marginalized people. Participation in traditional back-strap weaving will guide reflection on the relationship of health and cultural continuity. Spanish language school is an option in this practicum.

Toward Global Health Equity in Africa: Building Transcultural Nursing Relationships in Namibia
2 Semester Credits

Students focus on the development of leadership skills that promote Millennium Development Goal (MDG) achievement in sub-Saharan Africa. Practicum activities are designed to engage health care professionals and members of local communities in best practices for achieving MDG targets by 2015. Structured lectures and discussions supplement practice and encourage students to explore sociocultural determinants of health and illness—economic realities, cultural values and gender roles, education levels, governmental policies, access to technology, and the competence of health care providers—in relation to the unequal burdens of suffering and disease evident in Africa.

Practice Wisdom (Métis) and Formal Evidence
3 Semester Credits
This course provides a foundation for building the scholarship of advanced transcultural and holistic nursing practice. Sources of knowledge and procedures for acquiring knowledge, both formal and informal, will be studied for the power to positively influence health outcomes. Evidence will be evaluated for relevance to practical experience based in context-specific, emic positions and for rigor in empirical procedures based in context-free, etic perspectives. Utilizing selected evidence suited to particular transcultural and holistic issues, practice models building on both local expertise and professional research will be analyzed through systematic reflection. Students will begin developing original practice models suited to their transcultural and holistic healthcare issues and relevant to concerns of people marginalized by health systems. Exploration of how Evidence-Based Practice and Métis-Based Practice is integrated into nursing practice will be developed.

Making Room at the Table: Creating Collaborative Networks and Common Spaces
3 Semester Credits
This course focuses on communities as the foundation of health. Care models that minimize the expert role in planning and are embedded in local contexts of experience and tradition will be explored. From the perspective that hoarding abundance compromises the health of everyone, the course facilitates human connections that go beyond charity to acting from a basis of shared risk and solidarity.

Transcultural Cosmologies and a Global Perspective
3 Semester Credits
This course explores the intersection of Western scientific principles and cultural cosmologies. Cycles, rhythms, and patterns of nature are correlated to a Western understanding of natural science. These interrelationships are then viewed through the lens of nursing theory, research, and practice. A wider horizon of meaning derived from a broad understanding of diverse methods and healing practices allows for conceptual models of nursing care to emerge that are responsive to diverse cultural expressions of health and illness.

Ways of Knowing: Qualitative and Quantitative Evidence
3 Semester Credits
Drawing on insights from complexity science, this course examines the diverse ways of knowing that guide professional practice. It focuses on the comparative analysis of quantitative and qualitative data. Students will critically reflect on the data, unpacking it and uncovering the meaning behind the data that supports their practice. Comparing the positivistic and interpretive stance, the students will examine relevant knowledge and ways of knowing that provide scholarly grounding for their professional expertise.

Bio-Cultural Epidemiology: The Ecology of Human Suffering in a World of Extremes

3 Semester Credits

This course embraces a critical social approach to understanding health and illness embodied within populations and communities. Cumulative illness-producing effects of inequities entrenched in structures of social privilege and disadvantage are examined in relation to patterns of health, illness, risk perception, and behavior across a broad range of cultural contexts. Human suffering is viewed as neither coincidental nor inevitable, but related to how social relationships and institutions promote or erode the health of persons and populations. Ecological and epidemiological methods are examined for their cultural sensitivity, relevance and ability to expose socio-cultural determinants of health and illness in local contexts. The role of the advanced practice nursing, gathering evidence, advocating for the underserved, and providing care and access to health resources is emphasized.

This course will provide an approach to a collaborative medicine case study application of transcultural and holistic nursing concepts, based on evidence based and metis-based evidence practice. This case study application will develop critical spiritual, ethical, and integrative health leadership decision-making skills for the nurse practitioner. An analysis of barriers to the delivery of integrative health will be described and innovative leadership theory and collaborations skills be examined.

OJB – Ojibwe

OJB111
Beginning Ojibwe I
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the language and culture of the Ojibwe (Chippewa). Emphasis is on vocabulary, reading, writing, and conversational skills. Classroom practice will include linguistic patterns and oral interaction.
Core Curriculum Component: Modern Language 1
Prerequisite(s): None

OJB112
Beginning Ojibwe II
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the language and culture of the Ojibwe (Chippewa). Emphasis is on vocabulary, reading, writing, and conversational skills. Classroom practice will include linguistic patterns and oral interaction.
Core Curriculum Component: Modern Language 2
Prerequisite(s): OJB111(Beginning Ojibwe I)

PA – Physician Assistant Studies

PA501
Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy
8 Semester Credits
This course takes a regional approach to the study of human anatomy. The course uses lecture, demonstration, discussion and dissection of human cadavers. The intention is to give the students a foundation for Clinical Medicine.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA503
Human Pathophysiology
4 Semester Credits
The course uses lecture, detailed objectives/study guide, quizzes and exam, discussion and case studies to learn and review basic human physiology and pathophysiology involving fluids and electrolytes; acid/base disturbances; cellular adaptations; immunity, hypersensitivity, inflammation, and infection; hematology; pulmonary; cardiovascular system; gastrointestinal system; renal; nervous system; and musculoskeletal system. The intention is to give the students a foundation for Clinical Medicine.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA511
History and Physical Exam Skills I
7 Semester Credits
This is the first in a series of lecture-discussion-laboratory courses designed to demonstrate and apply techniques and skills essential to interviewing and physical examination of patients across organ systems. Basic genetics and preventative health care are introduced. Units are coordinated with Clinical Medicine I, Pharmacotherapy I, and Clinical Practice Seminar I.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA501(Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503(Human Pathophysiology)

PA512
History and Physical Exam Skills II
7 Semester Credits
This is the second in a series of lecture-discussion-laboratory courses designed to demonstrate and apply the techniques and skills essential to interviewing and physical examination of patients across organ systems. Units are coordinated with Clinical Medicine II, Pharmacotherapy II, and Clinical Practice Seminar II.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA511(History and Physical Exam Skills I)

PA521
Pharmacotherapy I
5 Semester Credits
This is the first in a series of courses that will cover pharmacology and pharmacotherapy related to disease processes across organ systems. This course will include discussion of drug mechanism of action, indications, adverse effects, contraindications, monitoring, and patient education. Units are coordinated with the Clinical Medicine I, History and Physical Exam Skills I, and Clinical Practice Seminar I courses.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA501(Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503(Human Pathophysiology)
PA522
Pharmacotherapy II
5 Semester Credits
This is the second in a series of courses that will cover pharmacology and pharmacotherapy related to disease processes across organ systems. This course will include discussion of drug mechanism of action, indications, adverse effects, contraindications, monitoring, and patient education. Units are coordinated with the Clinical Medicine II, History and Physical Exam Skills II, and Clinical Practice Seminar II courses.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA521(Pharmacotherapy I)

PA531
Clinical Medicine I
8 Semester Credits
This is the first in a series of courses that provides background in the epidemiology, etiology, pathophysiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of common and serious disorders across organ systems. This course builds on the foundation laid in Anatomy and Pathophysiology. Units are coordinated with concurrent courses in History and Physical Exam Skills I, Pharmacotherapy I, and Clinical Practice Seminar I.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA501(Human Anatomy and Neuroanatomy), PA503(Human Pathophysiology)

PA532
Clinical Medicine II
10 Semester Credits
This is the second in a series of courses that provides background in the epidemiology, etiology, pathophysiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of common and serious disorders across organ systems. Geriatrics medicine will be explored and integrated throughout the semester. Students will complete a service-learning experience with an older adult from the community. Units are coordinated with concurrent courses in History and Physical Exam Skills II, Pharmacotherapy II, and Clinical Practice Seminar II.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA531(Clinical Medicine I)

PA533
Clinical Medicine III
4 Semester Credits
This is the third and final in a series of three courses and will provide a background in the epidemiology, etiology, pathophysiology, clinical presentation, diagnosis, treatment, and prevention of common and serious disorders in pediatrics, women's health, and acute, emergent, and inpatient care.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PA532(Clinical Medicine II)

PA542
Professional Issues
2 Semester Credits
This course is a seminar designed to introduce the physician assistant (PA) student to various professional topics and medical ethics that affect the practicing physician assistant. The course focus is on the medical and non-medical aspects of the profession such as: history of the Physician Assistant (PA) profession, laws and regulations governing physician assistant practice, education, professional behavior and some of the most important ethical issues in medicine, public health, and caring for diverse communities.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA545

Clinical Phase Transition

2 Semester Credits

This course incorporates experiential learning to prepare the student for clinical practice. It will also facilitate the transition of knowledge and skills from the academic phase into the clinical phase. The focus will be on written and verbal communication, professionalism and interpersonal skill development relating to the application of knowledge. Students will be placed in a clinic or hospital setting for the semester. In-class time will be used to discuss these experiences and work on skills essential for clinical practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA546

Clinical Practice Seminar I

2 Semester Credits

This course is designed to integrate and apply concepts and knowledge gained through the Clinical Medicine, History and Physical Exam and Pharmacotherapy series. It will help the student become a critical thinker, introduce the concepts of clinical decision making, and apply other course content to patient cases. It will be administered in a small group format and will generally be case based and emphasize common themes/concepts encountered in clinical practice. Semester I will focus on clinic-based patient cases. Groups will consist of 5-10 students.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA532(Clinical Medicine II)

PA547

Clinical Practice Seminar II

2 Semester Credits

This course is designed to integrate and apply concepts and knowledge gained through the Clinical Medicine, History and Physical Exam and Pharmacotherapy series. It will help the student become a critical thinker, introduce the concepts of clinical decision making, and apply other course content to patient cases. It will be administered in a small group format and will generally be case based and emphasize common themes/concepts in clinical practice. Semester II will focus on more complex patient cases and include acute care settings (emergency room and hospital admissions). Groups will consist of 5-10 students.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA546(Clinical Practice Seminar I)

PA555

Research Tools for the Physician Assistant

2 Semester Credits
The course emphasizes research as a tool at all levels of physician assistant (PA) practice and education; identifies the linkages between research, theory, and medical practice, and the responsibility of the PA to expand their knowledge base. Information literacy in relationship to medical literature is integrated throughout the course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA599

Directed Study

3 Semester Credits

This course provides a practice-oriented approach to the information literacy methods used in health care. Students will develop a topic, complete a full review of the literature and produce an analytic paper in consultation with supervising professor.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PA555 (Research Tools for the Physician Assistant)

PA600

Family Medicine Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and conditions unique to the clinical practice of family medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA601

Internal Medicine Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and conditions unique to the clinical practice of internal medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA602

General Surgery Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits
A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and surgical conditions unique to the clinical practice of General Surgery. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA603

Pediatric Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and surgical conditions unique to the clinical practice of Pediatrics. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA604

Women's Health Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and surgical conditions unique to the clinical practice of Women’s Health. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA605

Emergency Medicine Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of systemic diseases and surgical conditions unique to the clinical practice of Emergency Medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA606

Psychiatric Clinical Practicum

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of Psychiatric diseases and conditions unique to the clinical practice of Psychiatric Medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans utilizing evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA607

Elective Clinical Practicum I

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of diseases and conditions unique to the clinical practice of Medicine. Students are allowed to choose, in consultation with the clinical coordinator, the area of medicine in which they would like to study as their elective.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA608

Elective Clinical Practicum II

4 Semester Credits

A required rotation which emphasizes the pathophysiology, evaluation, diagnosis, and management of diseases and conditions unique to the clinical practice of Medicine. Students are allowed to choose, in consultation with the clinical coordinator, the area of medicine in which they would like to study as their elective.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA620

Primary Care Preceptorship

6 Semester Credits

The final rotation of the clinical phase, which can be completed in family, internal, geriatric, pediatric or women’s medicine. This course provides students a final opportunity to develop skills unique to the clinical practice of medicine to include performing proper data collection, formulating accurate problem lists and investigation strategies, and developing treatment plans that incorporate evidence based medicine.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA621

General Medicine Specialty Preceptorship

6 Semester Credits

A required rotation at the completion of the clinical phase. This course provides the student a final opportunity to develop the skills unique to the clinical practice of medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans incorporating evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature. Can be completed in PA621 General Medicine Specialty or PA622 Surgical Specialty.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA622
Surgical Specialty Preceptorship

6 Semester Credits

A required rotation at the completion of the clinical phase. This course provides the student a final opportunity to develop the skills unique to the clinical practice of medicine. Inclusion of proper data collection through history and physical examination, formulation of accurate problem lists, thorough investigation, and development of treatment plans incorporating evidence based medicine as determined by review and analysis of current medical literature. Can be completed in PA621 General Medicine Specialty or PA622 Surgical Specialty.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PA690
Capstone

2 Semester Credits

This course provides each student the opportunity to present results of their individual research topic and to synthesize previous study and work experience in preparation for graduation and clinical practice. The student will demonstrate an understanding of the program’s and profession’s principles.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

---

PHI – Philosophy

PHI110
Introduction to Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

This course introduces students to typical philosophical questions (how we know, if we can have certain knowledge, if there are universal moral principles, whether God exists, the nature of the mind, etc.), to philosophical vocabulary, and to critical thinking and what it means to view the world philosophically.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI120

Ethics

4 Semester Credits

By studying our moral beliefs, ethics helps students consider the bases they use to make moral judgments. The course explores major philosophical approaches to evaluating moral actions and then applies them to contemporary issues. The Christian tradition will inform the considerations. Students who receive credit for PHI 120 may not receive credit for PHI 125.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI125

Ethics and Human Identity

4 Semester Credits
A philosophical study of the role of human understanding, emotions, and action with respect to the pursuit of happiness. Beginning by asking what the end or purpose of human life is, students decide on the moral and intellectual virtues required to reach the end. Topics of friendship and human love are followed by an analysis of human happiness. Students who receive credit for PHI 125 may not receive credit for PHI 120.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI175
Philosophy of Love and Sex
4 Semester Credits
The nature and history of romantic love. The ethics of sex in relation to love, marriage, the institution of monogamy, and homosexuality are considered.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI180
Ethics of Medicine and Health Care
4 Semester Credits
The course discusses some fundamental ethical theories, which it then carefully applies to problems that arise in the areas of health care and delivery, allocation of scarce resources, human experimentation, genetic engineering, abortion, care for the dying, and euthanasia.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI230
Logic
4 Semester Credits
Students learn to distinguish arguments from exposition. Then they learn the rules that govern valid arguments and develop their ability to recognize and construct sound arguments. The last part of the course focuses on informal logic and inductive reasoning.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

PHI241
History of Philosophy I: Ancient Greek Philosophy
4 Semester Credits
Central philosophical questions that concerned the Greek philosophers from Thales to Plotinus and still concern us today: the nature of reality and its relationship to language and reason, the immortality of the soul, the nature of truth and human knowledge, and the nature of the good life.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI242
History of Philosophy II: Medieval and Renaissance Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

Students will read writings by various medieval and Renaissance philosophers in order to understand the process of philosophical assimilation involved in constructing a Christian philosophy. Topics include: the nature of being, human understanding in relation to faith, and the place of the image of God in the human condition. (Suggested prior course: PHI 241. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

PHI260

Philosophy and the Arts

4 Semester Credits

Philosophical issues raised and illustrated by painting, sculpture, literature, music, architecture, and film: the truth and falsehood of aesthetic judgment, the definition of art; the nature of aesthetic experience, the evaluation of art, creativity, the relation between the artist's intention, the work of art, and its relation to the rest of the artistic tradition. For arts majors and students with a strong background in the arts.

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI315

Philosophy of Human Nature and Human Culture

4 Semester Credits

This course concerns the philosophical study of human nature and its relation to human culture. Students will read a selection of texts by eminent philosophers on the subject. Topics studied in the course include: the knowledge and nature of the self, the definition of the human being in terms of culture, myth and religion in human culture, human nature and the culture of language, and the culture of art.

Core Curriculum Component: Humanities

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI343

History of Philosophy III: Early Modern and 19th-Century Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

We study the major rationalists of the 17th century (Descartes, Spinoza, Leibniz), the major empiricists of the 18th century (Locke, Berkeley, Hume), Kant's synthesis of rationalism and empiricism, and 19th-century idealism and the reaction to it (Marx, Kierkegaard, Nietzsche and Mill). (Suggested prior course: PHI 241)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None
PHI344

History of Philosophy IV: 20th-21st Century Philosophy

4 Semester Credits

The course surveys the major philosophical schools in the 20th and 21st centuries: analytic philosophy, phenomenology, existentialism, pragmatism, and postmodern philosophy. Focus of study is on major texts of these movements. Students are strongly encouraged to take PHI 343 before taking PHI 344.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI350

Philosophy of Religion

4 Semester Credits

We systematically investigate a series of philosophical questions about religion. What is the relation between faith and reason? Does God exist, and if so, what can be said about God? Can God’s goodness be reconciled with human suffering? Are miracles and life after death possible?

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI365

Philosophy of Science

4 Semester Credits

The course explores what scientific knowledge is, whether the scientist’s knowledge of the world is profoundly different and better than that of the non-scientist, and what degrees of certainty are yielded by scientific methods. (Suggested prior course: one course in natural science)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI370

Existentialism

4 Semester Credits

Studies in the writings - both philosophical and literary - of prominent existentialist authors. The course examines what it means to be a being-in-the-world and explores such themes as absurdity, freedom, guilt, despair, and paradox. (Suggested: one prior course in philosophy. Alternate years)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI380

Ethics of Medicine and Health Care

4 Semester Credits

The course discusses some fundamental ethical theories, which it then carefully applies to problems that arise in the areas of health care and delivery, allocation of scarce resources, human experimentation, genetic engineering, abortion, care for the dying, and euthanasia.

Prerequisite(s): None

PHI385
Formal Logic and Computation Theory
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to sentential and first-order logic including logical connectives, proof theory, and quantification. Formal models of computation including finite state automata, pushdown automata, and Turing machines. Incompleteness and uncomputability.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group 4); 1 of MAT171(Discrete Mathematics For Computing), MAT271(Discrete Mathematical Structures); CSC210(Data Structures)

PHI399
Internship
4 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience
Prerequisite(s): None

PHI410
Topics in Philosophy
4 Semester Credits
Advanced studies covering either an individual philosopher or a specific topic in philosophy, such as philosophical movements, the history of an idea or specific problems. Seminar format. May be taken more than once for credit. (Suggested prior courses: any course from PHI 241, 242, 343, 344.)
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); CONSENT(Consent of Instructor)

PHI490
Keystone
4 Semester Credits
This course integrates the student’s general education experience with an overview of specific philosophical ideas or philosophers.
Core Curriculum Component: Keystone

PHY – Physics

PHY101
Astronomy
4 Semester Credits
A descriptive course covering our solar system, stars, and galaxies. In addition, the course traces the development of scientific thought from early civilization to the present day. Night viewing is required. (Three one-hour lectures.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT103(Prealgebra), MAT103(Everyday Math), MPL(Math Placement Level 2)

PHY107
College Physics I
4 Semester Credits
This is a rigorous study of classical physics including mechanics and wave motion. This course is focused on the applications of physics to the biological sciences. This course does not meet requirements for Chemistry and Physics majors. High school trigonometry is required in preparation for this course. Concurrent registration in PHY107L is required. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MAT114(Precalculus), MPL(Math Placement Group)

PHY107L
College Physics I Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): PHY107(College Physics I) concurrent registration is required

PHY108
College Physics II
4 Semester Credits
A rigorous study of classical physics including thermodynamics, electricity, magnetism, and optics. This course is focused on the applications of physics to the biological sciences. This course does not meet requirements for Chemistry and Physics majors. Concurrent registration in PHY108L is required. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)

College Physics II Lab
1 Semester Credits
Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): PHY108(College Physics II) concurrent registration is required
PHY116
Introduction to Physics
4 Semester Credits
An algebra-based introductory course in which the applications, problems, and experiments are selected to illustrate fundamental principles and provide a broad survey of physics. Concurrent registration in PHY116L is required. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): PHY116(Introduction to Physics) concurrent registration is required

PHY119
Physics for the Fine Arts
4 Semester Credits
A scientific study of sound, light, and the mechanics of structures and the human body relating to music, the visual arts, and theater. Explores the physics of phenomena and perception fundamental to these disciplines. Concurrent registration in PHY119L is required. (Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory.)

Core Curriculum Component: Natural Sciences and Mathematics (Lab)
Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

Physics and Earth Science for Elementary Education Teachers

4 Semester Credits

This course focuses on MSEP physical science outcomes for K-5 licensure: properties of and changes in matter; position, motion and force; light, heat, electricity and magnetism; and kinds of and ways to transfer energy. Students conduct hands on physical science explorations and do lab experiments. They also review student misconceptions, Students will also study key ideas in earth science including connections between concepts in earth science and physics.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

PHY245

Modern Physics

4 Semester Credits

An introduction to modern physics from a historical and experimental perspective. Relativity, atomic, molecular, nuclear, and solid state physics. This course develops the experimental foundations and need for quantum mechanics. Concurrent registration in PHY245L is required. (Three one-hour lectures, one two-hour laboratory. Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): MAT245(Calculus III) concurrent registration is acceptable; PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY245L
Modern Physics Lab
1 Semester Credits
Laboratory experiments and projects provide students with an introduction to advanced instrumentation and experimental techniques used in modern science.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT146(Calculus II), PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY261
Electronics
4 Semester Credits
AC and DC circuits, analog electronics, digital electronics, and the analysis and use of microprocessors and microcomputer systems. Three one-hour lectures, one three-hour laboratory. Concurrent registration in PHY261L is required.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of PHY116(Introduction to Physics), PHY122(General Physics II); MAT146(Calculus II)

PHY261L
Electronics Lab
1 Semester Credits
Students will develop hands-on skills and experience through laboratory exercises and projects using modern test instrumentation, simple circuit design, transistors, operational amplifiers, gates, and other devices.

Biophysics
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to classic topics at the intersection of physics and biology. Topics may include biopolymers, self-assembly, nerves and signal propagation, molecular machines, and biomembranes. The course will emphasize approaches based on thermodynamics, statistical mechanics, and experimental techniques. Concurrent registration in PHY317L is required. (Three one-hour lectures and a three hour laboratory. Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT146(Calculus II), PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY317L
Biophysics Lab
1 Semester Credits
Students will develop experimental skills in biophysics (e.g. image processing, microscopy, thermodynamic techniques).

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CSC170(Introduction to Object-Oriented Programming (Java)), PHY122(General Physics II); MAT146(Calculus II)

PHY327
Special Functions of Mathematical Physics
4 Semester Credits
Special functions encountered in physics. Partial differentiation, partial differential equations, Fourier series, series solution of differential equations, Legendre, Bessel, and other orthogonal functions, vector calculus, applied linear algebra (e.g., matrix multiplication, eigenvalues and eigenvectors, special matrices, determinants), functions of a complex variable, and an introduction to computer programming. Concurrent registration in PHY327L is required. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)

Special Functions of Mathematical Physics Lab
1 Semester Credits
Computer applications to solve relevant physics and engineering problems in including numerical techniques, fitting, simulation, etc.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): MAT245(Calculus III), PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY351
Classical Mechanics
4 Semester Credits
Classical mechanics in terms of Newtonian, Lagrangian, and Hamiltonian formalisms. Topics include conservation principles, single particle motion, systems of particles, gravitation, oscillations, central forces, and two-particle kinematics.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT245(Calculus III), MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY365
Electricity and Magnetism

4 Semester Credits

Students will develop an understanding of electric and magnetic fields. Applying vector calculus, forces and fields, the equations of Laplace and Poisson, and multipole expansions to electric and magnetic phenomenon. Electromagnetic waves and Maxwell's equations in vacuum and in matter.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT369(Modeling and Differential Equations in Biological and Natural Sciences), PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics); PHY122(General Physics II)

PHY395

Comprehensive Laboratory I

2 Semester Credits

Students work in small groups on advanced experiments from various physics subfields (including modern physics, electronic instrumentation, magnetism, and optics) with a focus on the role of experiments, interpretation of data, and scientific communication. Incorporates an introduction to LabVIEW software for computerized data acquisition and experiment control. (One three-hour laboratory and an occasional one-hour seminar per week. Prereq.: junior or senior standing in physics. Fall)

Core Curriculum Component: None

PHY396

Comprehensive Laboratory II

2 Semester Credits

Application of experimental techniques to advanced experiments in modern optics, biophysics, colloids and interfaces, and other areas. (One three-hour laboratory and an occasional one-hour seminar per week. Prereq.: junior or senior standing in physics. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); PHY122(General Physics II)

4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience

Prerequisite(s): None

PHY430
Introduction to Solid State Physics
4 Semester Credits

Topics in solid state physics including various theories of metals, crystal lattices, band structure and Fermi surfaces, phonons, semiconductors and magnetism. The conditions and consequences of the solid state of materials will be explored at a very detailed level, taking realistic parameters of materials into account. Prereq.: PHY 486 strongly recommended. (Three one-hour lectures.)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PHY351(Mechanics I), PHY362(Electromagnetic Fields I)

PHY484
Quantum Mechanics Supplement
2 Semester Credits

A complement to the material covered in a typical semester of Physical Chemistry. A focus on the mathematical development, interpretation, and the strangeness of quantum mechanics. Material appropriate to a traditional undergraduate quantum mechanics course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CHM368(Concurrent Enrollment in CHM368) concurrent registration is required, PHY327(Special Functions of Mathematical Physics)

PHY486
Quantum Physics
4 Semester Credits

A development from first principles, including de Broglie’s postulates, the Schroedinger equation, operators, wave functions, expectation values, and approximation methods. Applications include potential wells and barriers, the harmonic oscillator, and the hydrogen atom. (Three one-hour lectures. Spring)

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): PHY245(Modern Physics), PHY351(Mechanics I)

PHY499
Independent Study
4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL – Political Science

POL121
American Government and Politics
4 Semester Credits

Surveys major parts of American national government - including Congress, the presidency, and the courts - as well as campaigns and elections, federalism, interest groups, and political parties.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL122
Social Justice in Urban America
4 Semester Credits

Examines politics and public policy in metropolitan areas, emphasizing factors that help some do well while others struggle. Looks at how urban politics embodies some of the country’s deepest challenges, and considers ways that people work to address those challenges.

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL124
American Women and Politics
4 Semester Credits

Investigates the roles women play in the political system. Political, economic, and social issues will be explored from contemporary and historical perspectives.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL158
Introduction to Political Science
4 Semester Credits

An analysis of basic patterns in the political system and decision-making process with some comparison of major political systems and discussion of contemporary issues.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL160
World Politics
4 Semester Credits

Introduction to the processes and issues of international politics, including the dynamics of the international system, theories of international relations, and a focus on recent problems.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL170
Law in the United States
4 Semester Credits
A survey of American law and legal process. Theories of law; law and society; roles of courts, police, lawyers, and juries; the United States Constitution as "supreme" law; law as politics; historic and contemporary legal issues.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL199

Internship

4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL241

Environmental and River Politics

4 Semester Credits

This course explores the politics of the communities and ecosystems of the Upper Mississippi River watershed, including controversies about river pollution, the lock and dam system, regional water supply, flood control, and farming practices. Includes site visits to see how local policy-makers and stakeholders are trying to achieve sustainability in the watershed.

Core Curriculum Component: Engaging Minneapolis, Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL282

Asian American Politics

4 Semester Credits

Asian Americans and their place in American politics and society. Includes some coverage of Asian American history and looks at the struggle to define Asian Americans.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL295

4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL310

Citizen Participation within a Globalized Economy
4 Semester Credits

This course explores and analyzes key political, social and economic factors in Central America that are shaping citizens’ participation today with a special emphasis on Costa Rica and Nicaragua. Students are also exposed to forces such as globalization and neoliberal economic policies applied in the region and how these – among other factors – have reshaped the role of governments and its relationship with constituents.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL325

Politics and Public Policy

4 Semester Credits

The domestic policy making process, emphasizing how elected officials, bureaucrats, and interest groups shape government policies in various areas, including taxes, the environment, and social welfare policy. How public policies are formulated and implemented.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL326

Political Parties and Behavior

4 Semester Credits

Emphasizes study of public opinion and political parties in the electoral process. Field work with political parties, interest groups, and media in presidential elections (optional in non-presidential election years).

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT (Consent of Instructor), POL121 (American Government and Politics), POL122 (Metropolitan Complex), POL124 (American Women and Politics), POL158 (Introduction to Political Science), POL160 (World Politics), POL170 (Law in the United States), POL241 (Environmental and River Politics), POL282 (Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295 (Topics), POL323 (Social and Political Change), POL325 (Politics and Public Policy), POL342 (Mass Communication in Society), POL350 (Topics: European Politics), POL351 (Commst/Post Commst S U/Russia/CIS), POL359 (Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363 (Russian and Chinese Foreign Pocie), POL370 (Constitutional Law), POL371 (Topics), POL375 (Media Law), POL380 (Western Political Thought), POL381 (Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382 (Marxist Theory), POL421 (Topics: American Politics), POL459 (Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461 (Topics: International Politics), POL483 (Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484 (Political Analysis), POL490 (International Relations Keystone), POL495 (Seminar)

POL341

Globalization, Social Struggle and the Environment

4 Semester Credits

Explores issues of globalization and social change in Mexico and analyzes political, social, and economic policies that promote and/or hinder sustainable development from a gender perspective. Particular emphasis will be placed on environmental issues and the causes of migration/emigration and social unrest in Mexico.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL342

Mass Communication in Society
4 Semester Credits

Studies effects of new information technology (such as the Internet) and of the traditional electronic media. Covers uses of technology and media for newsmaking, selling, entertainment, and public affairs.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL350

Topics: European Politics

4 Semester Credits

Study of the political behavior, institutions, and processes of European states. The course will focus on either European community law and politics or domestic politics in European states.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL353

Political and Social Change in Namibia

4 Semester Credits

This course is an integrative seminar for the semester and examines the legacy of apartheid in Namibia with particular focus on the social and political movements that have evolved in the struggle for independence.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL354

The Politics of Development in Southern Africa

4 Semester Credits

This course examines basic theories of development as well as the political economy of development. It provides the opportunity to reflect critically on issues of development, including global justice, equality, and sustainability.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

POL357

(Im)Migration, Gender and Social Change

4 Semester Credits

At a time when borders between nations are so heavily defended, how do we understand the flow of people and ideas across those divides? Learn how race, gender, sexuality and social class intersect when they are seen from a lens of (im)migration in a Latin American context.
Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences

Prerequisite(s): None

POL359
Topics: Women in Comparative Politics
4 Semester Credits
An exploration of gender politics in globalization. Particular attention is given to women’s organizing efforts around issues of domestic and political violence, ecology, human rights, democracy, political participation, and revolutionary social change.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL368
Model United Nations
4 Semester Credits
This course provides students with in-depth understanding of the United Nations and international diplomacy through the process of preparation for attending the National Model United Nations Conference which is held each spring in New York City. Students research a country and set of issues for the committee on which they will serve.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL160(World Politics)

POL370
Constitutional Law
4 Semester Credits
The legal-political-philosophical role of the Supreme Court in the American political system in significant decisions affecting the allocation of powers in the national government and in the federal system.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); POL170(Law in the United States)
POL371
Topics
4 Semester Credits
Selected topics in internet, communications, and constitutional law. Content will vary, defined by the subtitle of the course.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of COM111(Public Speaking), COM112(Contest Public Speaking), COM115(Scientific and Technical Public Speaking), COM120(Mass Media and Popular Culture), COM280(Introduction to Communication Studies), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics)

POL380
Western Political Thought
4 Semester Credits
A study of influential political philosophers, emphasizing the values, goals, and assumptions that continue to inform and to rationalize human governance.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identiti), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

POL381
Topics: Democratic Theory
4 Semester Credits
Selected topics including the emergence of political democracy in comparative perspective and American political thought. Topic to be included in the subtitle.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identiti), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar); 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level)

4 Semester Credits
Topics include legislative, executive, or judicial politics, public policy, and leadership. Can include focus on national, state, or local level.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmetal and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL459
Topics: Comparative Politics
4 Semester Credits
Selected themes including interpretations of political systems and comparisons of political processes such as political participation, political development, political change, and revolution. Topic to be included in subtitle.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of CONSENT(Consent of Instructor), POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL461

Topics: International Politics

4 Semester Credits

Selected themes including interpretations of international politics, foreign policy decision-making, simulations of international problems. Topic to be included in subtitle.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL282(Asian America Politics of Identit), POL295(Topics), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL359(Women GenderandSocialChange/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL484(Political Analysis), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar)

POL483

Political Statistics and Methodology

4 Semester Credits

Introductory survey of political science methods. Covers experimental design, descriptive and inferential statistics, computer methods, and issues in the construction and execution of political surveys.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3)

POL484

Political Analysis

4 Semester Credits

An analysis of different approaches and theories in the study of politics including an examination of the requirements of science as a model for political study. Major research is required. This course satisfies the Keystone requirement.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone
Prerequisite(s): 3 of POL121(American Government and Politics), POL122(Metropolitan Complex), POL124(American Women and Politics), POL158(Introduction to Political Science), POL160(World Politics), POL170(Law in the United States), POL199(Internship), POL241(Environmental and River Politics), POL295(Topics), POL299(Directed Study), POL310(Citizen Participation within a Globalized Economy-A Nicaraguan Case Study), POL323(Social and Political Change), POL325(Politics and Public Policy), POL326(Political Parties and Behavior), POL341(Globalization, Social Struggle and the Environment), POL342(Mass Communication in Society), POL350(Topics: European Politics), POL351(Commst/Post Commst S U /Russia/CIS), POL353(Political and Social Change in Namibia), POL354(The Politics of Development in Southern Africa), POL357(Women Gender and Social Change in Latin America - Mexico), POL359(Women Gender and Social Change/LatinAm), POL363(Russian and Chinese Foreign Policie), POL368(Model United Nations), POL370(Constitutional Law), POL371(Topics), POL375(Media Law), POL380(Western Political Thought), POL381(Topics: Democratic Theory), POL382(Marxist Theory), POL397(Internship), POL399(Internship), POL421(Topics: American Politics), POL459(Topics: Comparative Politics), POL461(Topics: International Politics), POL483(Political Statistics and Methodology), POL490(International Relations Keystone), POL495(Seminar), POL498(Independent Study), POL499(Independent Study)

POL490

International Relations Keystone

4 Semester Credits

Capstone seminar for students majoring in international relations; analysis of some methods for studying international relations; analysis of major trends; senior thesis. Open to other students by consent of instructor. This course satisfies the Keystone requirement for International Relations majors.

Core Curriculum Component: Keystone

PSY – Psychology

PSY105
Principles of Psychology
4 Semester Credits
An introduction to the methods and principles of psychology. Applications of psychological concepts to everyday situations are emphasized. Research participation is required.

Core Curriculum Component: Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

PSY199
Internship
4 Semester Credits

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PSY105(Principles of Psychology)

PSY201
Health Psychology
4 Semester Credits
Consideration of the impact of psychological, behavioral, social, and biological interactions on health.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PSY105(Principles of Psychology)

PSY203
Lifespan Development
4 Semester Credits
An overview of biological, cognitive, and socioemotional development from the prenatal period through adulthood using a developmental perspective. Emphasis on theories, methodology, and current scientific and applied research in developmental psychology.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): PSY105(Principles of Psychology)

PSY205
Culture and Psychology
4 Semester Credits
Examine how culture is related to mental processes and behavior. Topics include the impact of culture on development, emotion, cognition, personality, social interactions, and psychological disorders. This course is typically reserved for faculty-led study abroad programs.

Core Curriculum Component: Augsburg Experience, Social and Behavioral Sciences
Prerequisite(s): None

PSY215
Research Methods and Statistics I
4 Semester Credits
Part I of a two-term sequence. See PSY 315. PSY 215 may be taken without taking PSY 315. Scientific method as practiced in psychology. This sequence emphasizes skills of bibliographic research, research design and data collection, statistical analysis and interpretation, and APA-style presentation of research findings.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): 1 of MAT105(Applied Algebra), MAT106(Applied Algebra and Trigonometry), MPL(Math Placement Level 3); PSY105(Principles of Psychology)

Research Methods
4 Semester Credits

Good research—do you know it when you see it? Can you produce it yourself? Social science research skills are learned through the practice and application of the basic tools of valid and reliable research design and data analysis.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of ENG111(Effective Writing), ENL111(Effective Writing), ENL112(Advanced Effective Writing), HON111(Effective Writing for Liberating Letters), WPL(Writing Placement Level); SOC362(Statistical Analysis)

SOC375
Social Psychology
4 Semester Credits

Who are you, really? Taking the perspective of symbolic interactionism, this course begins with an exploration of how we create and sustain our identities through interaction with those around us and how those identities change with the surrounding circumstances. The course continues with a consideration of how social situations affect and shape individual identity and behavior.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC377
Organizational Crime and Deviance
4 Semester Credits
The benefits of contemporary organizational life come with costs: space shuttle explosions, insider trading, chemicals dumped in lakes; nuclear accidents; corporate scandals. What are the causes and consequences of organizational crime and deviance? Case study analysis and the application of sociological models of explanation will be examined in depth.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC380
Disaster and Resilience
4 Semester Credits
Floods. Heat waves. Earthquakes. Nuclear accidents. How do communities respond to such disasters? What is the role of government and media in such events? Can we reduce vulnerabilities? Through projects, field visits, guest speakers and seminar discussions we draw from the sociology of disaster, urban sociology, environmental studies, and organizational theory.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): 1 of SOC111(Human Community and Modern Metropolis), SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

SOC381
City and Regional Planning
4 Semester Credits
Urban planning applies social science in order to plan urban areas in ways that meet particular goals. It is based on the idea that the way a place is designed shapes human behavior as people interact with that design. We examine how urban space typically is developed, and changes, and how this reflects power relations. We also discuss how citizens can participate and intervene in the planning process.

Core Curriculum Component: None

SOC387
Juvenile Delinquency
4 Semester Credits
Why is the delinquency of juveniles seen differently from the deviance of adults? In addressing this question the social construction of deviance and delinquency as well as the historical precedents for treating juveniles differently will be examined. Topics include: sociological theories, patterns of delinquency, and the social and legal reactions to juvenile delinquency.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SOC390
Social Problems Analysis
4 Semester Credits
How do social problems develop? What can be done about them? This course engages the sociological imagination in an attempt to draw connections between micro-level analysis and macro-level analysis, linking our own private troubles with public issues.

Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): SOC121(Introduction to Human Society)

Integrative Field Seminar 3: MCCP

3 Semester Credits

The seminars are designed to address issues and experiences from the student's field practicum through rigorous application of different theoretical concepts and social work principles using a culturally sensitive approach grounded in a clear ethical foundation. The goal is to strengthen the students sophistication in understanding the interconnections between culturally appropriate theory and practice skills related to a specific client system, and the students inherent and inescapable contribution based on the students use of self. Secondly, the field seminar is the course where the students reflect on the evolution of their practice and document their progress. All students in field placements must participate in the appropriate concurrent Field Seminar.

Diversity and Inequality 1: MCCP

2 Semester Credits

These courses are based on a dual focus of valuing diversity and understanding social justice. This two-course sequence studies the history, demographics, and cultures of various disenfranchised groups as well as the dominant culture. It examines the impact of inequality on people of all backgrounds. In the second semester, students will participate in dialogue group: a stage-based, co-facilitated, face-to-face group that focuses on dialogue skills within the context of one’s race, ethnicity, age, religion, disability, country of origin, gender identity and sexual orientation. The two-sequence course is based on several assumptions: social inequality is an overarching phenomenon related to diversity, with individual manifestations within different social identity categories; social injustice occurs and is present at individual, institutional, and societal/structural levels; and, professional social work ethics and values demand cultural competence and culturally sensitive practice at the micro, mezzo, and macro levels.

MCCP Field Seminar 5: LADC
2 Semester Credits
Field Seminar 5 allows students to relate academic and theoretical learning focused exclusively on substance use and/or mental health services. The goal is to strengthen students’ sophistication in understanding the interconnections between culturally appropriate theory and practice skills, substance use and mental health disorders.
Core Curriculum Component: None

Multicultural Clinical Practice (MCCP) with Individuals
3 Semester Credits
MCCP with Individuals is a required methods course in the MCCP concentration. The course prepares social work clinicians who are competent to assess, intervene and monitor clinical interventions that are culturally sensitive and consistent with social work values and ethics. Although focused on individual intervention, clients are viewed within the context of their families and social context. The therapeutic process and treatment strategies are examined, incorporating content from psychodynamic, cognitive-behavioral, and post-modern models. These content areas are compared from a multicultural perspective in terms of their theoretical assumptions, intervention methods, and empirical evidence regarding treatment outcomes. Application of the models is placed within the problem-solving model and guided by an ecosystems, strengths, and empowerment perspective. Particular attention is given to the development of self-reflective practitioners.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SWK629

MCCP with Families
3 Semester Credits
MCCP with Families is a required methods course that focuses on the family as a unit of assessment and intervention in clinical social work practice. This course examines theory, knowledge and skills for clinical practice with families within a multicultural context. Students apply major family therapy models to assessing and intervening with families experiencing problems. The models are compared from a multicultural perspective in terms of their theoretical assumptions, intervention methods, and empirical evidence regarding treatment outcomes. Application of the models is placed within the problem-solving model and guided by ecosystems, strengths and empowerment perspectives. The course emphasizes family work that is appropriate to individual and family developmental stages and to diverse family types. Attention is given to family-centered practice in different social work fields of practice and settings and to the development of self-awareness of the practitioner.
Core Curriculum Component: None
Prerequisite(s): None

SWK630

MCCP Policy Practice
3 Semester Credits
In this course, MCCP students learn how organizational and social policies affect the delivery of clinical social work services in multicultural contexts. Students build upon the core policy practice competencies gained in their MSW foundation courses. Clinical social work practice is distinguished from other professional clinical practice by this use of the person-in-environment perspective. The multi-cultural lens sharpens focus on both the strengths that come with diversity and the discrimination and oppression, such as racism, that policies can uphold or undo.

SWK631

Multicultural Clinical Practice (MCCP) with Groups

3 Semester Credits

This course prepares students for advanced multicultural groupwork within a clinical practice. This course builds on the foundational curriculum with particular attention to clinical practice skills. Students will focus on the process of individual empowerment and change in the context of clinical group processes. Applied theories of human development, change, and resilience are integrated with theories of group processes, group leadership, and group communication as a critical knowledge base for planning, intervention, and leadership. Students will develop an understanding of phases of group practice, intervention skills, and ethical practices applied in a groupwork environment. In this course, the reflexive use of self and the cautious use of evidence based practice serve as the foundation for culturally responsive groupwork. Students will consider how their social identity and position influences similar and mixed social identity groups and their processes.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK634

MCCP Supervision

2 Semester Credits

Building upon the research to date on social work supervision, this course presents the functions of supervision (administrative, educational, supportive) as they interrelate in achieving the primary purpose of clinical supervision: assuring that client services prevent difficulties in client functioning and restore or enhance the biopsychosocial and spiritual functioning of individuals, families and groups served by supervisees. Students hone skills necessary for each of the stages of the supervisory process (planning, beginning, work, and ending), and they build a repertoire of supervisory questions that have been associated in research with fostering success in meeting clients’ goals. Students learn to differentiate supervision with its dimensions of hierarchical power, responsibility, liability, and authority from peer consultation. They gain competencies in both individual and group supervision, as well as competencies related to consultation with a multicultural lens to advance the application of theories and models of clinical social work practice.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK639

MCCP Elective

2 Semester Credits

Courses in MCCP electives are opportunities for students to practice with a focus on a particular field or aspect of social work practice. Examples include Ethics, Substance Abuse and Social Work, and Trauma Therapy and Treatment.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK640

Multicultural Clinical Practice Capstone
3 Semester Credits

This capstone course focuses on evaluation of treatment outcomes and practice efficacy. Students apply research skills, using clinically derived data in formative and summative evaluation of their practice process and outcomes. Students create a practice evaluation portfolio using previous coursework and data sets collected from their field practica. Data sets may include process recordings, structured observations, and data from individualized rating scales and questionnaires.

Integrative Field Seminar 3: MCMP

3 Semester Credits

The goal of these two courses is to strengthen the connections between theory and practice. All students in field placements must participate in the appropriate concurrent field seminar. As part of this integrative function, the seminar also serves as a means for making connections among course components and the expansion of classroom content—particularly as relating to dynamics of groups, communities, and organizations; human behavior; policy analysis; and research.

SWK657
Diversity and Inequality 1: MCMP

2 Semester Credits

These courses explore diversity and social inequality related to race, ethnicity, social class, gender, sexual orientation, age, and disability with application to the social service setting. Students focus on the structural and institutional processes through which social inequality is created and perpetuated. Institutional remedies for inequality are studied, such as affirmative action and equal opportunity policy, culturally competent supervision, administration, program development, and advocacy.

Multicultural Macro Practice (MCMP) Research Methods

3 Semester Credits

Building on the basic research skills developed in Research Methods, this course offers a program-oriented exploration of the range of research methods used in social work. There will be a particular focus on evaluative research, a critique of the role of research in assessing efficiency and effectiveness in social service delivery, and identification with the responsibility of social workers “to expand the knowledge base” of social work. The course emphasizes research as a tool at all levels of social work and will be concerned with strengthening the linkages between research, theory, and program evaluation.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK667

Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 1

3 Semester Credits

This course examines organizational theory and structure; processes of development, research, and evaluation; and social work values and ethics in the workplace. The need to work effectively within an organizational context means that social work practitioners must acquire a level of expertise in organization theory, dynamics, structure, and behavior, as well as an understanding of how organizations provide practice opportunities and constraints. This course provides opportunities for students to build the necessary skills to become effective service providers or change agents in the context of their work in social service organizations.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK668

Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 2

3 Semester Credits

This course builds on the theoretical knowledge base of SWK 667 and is intended to provide students with opportunities to apply those critical skills used in supervision and management. These skills are intended as a base for the beginning administrator. This course expects the student to develop specific skills in budgeting and personnel/human resource functions (e.g., recruitment, selection, hiring, training, and evaluation).

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): SWK667(Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 1)

SWK669

Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 3

3 Semester Credits
This course explores strategies and methods for working effectively with other service agencies, legislative and policy-making bodies, regulatory agencies, and advocacy groups.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): SWK668 (Organizations/Social Administrative Practice 2)

SWK670

Multicultural Macro Practice (MCMP) Policy

3 Semester Credits

This course examines theories, concepts, and analytical frameworks for analyzing policy. It addresses the role of economics, demographics, politics, values, and other relevant factors on policy design and implementation. The course emphasizes the analysis of selected existing or proposed policies in such areas as social insurance (e.g., Social Security), welfare reform, health care, long-term care, and tax policy including tax expenditures.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK671

Multicultural Macro Practice Planning

3 Semester Credits

This course examines theoretical and conceptual ideas concerning human services, their rationale in a market economy, and their relationship to public policy. Students will gain knowledge and build skills in the planning, implementation, and evaluation of services at various levels of system design, taking into account organizational, financial, and technological dimensions within an analytical framework of defined need and demand for service.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK698

Independent Study

4 Semester Credits

Students may propose to complete an independent study project. Such directed study projects provide the opportunity for a student to explore a particular area of social work. A faculty sponsor must be secured and a proposal submitted to the Social Work Department. On rare occasions, an independent study may be used to satisfy the general elective requirement. Prior approval is required. Courses that are part of the required curriculum may not be taken as independent study.

Core Curriculum Component: None

Prerequisite(s): None

SWK699

General Elective

2 Semester Credits

Students in both concentrations complete at least one general elective course for graduation. The following are examples of offerings that are rotated each year: Parent and Professional Planning, Interdisciplinary Perspectives on Aging, Cognitive Behavioral Therapy in Social Work Clinical Practice, Spirituality and Social Work Practice, Empowerment of Services Users in Mental Health. We also offer short-term electives abroad: Exploring Human Services in International Settings (examples include Mexico, Slovenia, Namibia, South Africa, India, China, and Hong Kong)

Rethinking Children and Youth

4 Semester Credits
Children and youth are often expected to be seen and not heard. This course will develop an appreciative understanding of children and youth that will allow us to engage them as assets and agents of positive change. We will explore the history of childhood in North America as well as the historical emergence and cultural construction of adolescence in the 20th century. We will develop a critical lens of this construction in order to free ourselves from our limited and low expectations of children and youth in society. We will then construct a new framework that will enable us to understand and engage young people as powerful, contributing members of society.
