

NECU Interfaith Resources

- Stages:
 - a. Planning
 - In this stage, the developer will plan the overall structure of the site and how the pages will relate to each other.
 - Note: this is stage will provide very basic diagram of sitemap with no design and color.
 - b. Design
 - This stage will provide a first look of the site and gives the customer a first look of the product. (the customer can give feedback)
 - Note: the result will be colored and include the images, logos, and informations with the pages.
 - c. Writings and Materials
 - This stage is actually takes place with all the other processes. The customer will provide the necessary headlines like: mission, about, and other necessary information that might be important to add on the site.
 - d. Testing and Review
 - The second stage before launching takes place at this stage and the customer will have a final look of the site.
 - Note: the developer will make sure all the links are properly working and there is no broken links.
 - e. Launch
 - This is the final stage and the site will go live.
