Internship Highlights

Are you considering doing an internship for credit? Here are some simple guidelines:

Course Credit

Internships for course credit are an exciting way to enhance your classroom learning and are available in every discipline/major at Augsburg. Some majors require an internship for credit; in other majors, the internship credit can be an elective credit. During an internship, you will:

- Make connections between theory and practice
- Gain new knowledge, understanding, and skills
- Apply what you learn in your courses to a related work or service-based learning experience

In addition, you will learn more about yourself and be exposed to potential career opportunities. During your internship, you will be "in charge" of what you want to learn, and you and a faculty supervisor/sponsor will negotiate your learning goals.

Planning for Your Internship

REGISTRATION:

Students can register for an internship credit during any academic term or summer session. Internships can be registered for one course credit or .5 course credit. One course credit involves a minimum time commitment of, on average, 10 hours per week or 140 total hours. Internships for .5 credit require a minimum of 80 total hours. Follow these steps for registering.
