Internship Highlights

Peace Prize Festival Assistant - unpaid internship

Duties: to assist in the planning and preparation of the annual Peace Prize Festival, which is held at Augsburg College each year in early March. The Festival works with local middle-school and high-school students on projects relating to past Nobel Peace Prize Laureates. The students present their projects (either visual displays or musical performances) at the Festival, which is held in the Augsburg gym. The intern would work closely with the Festival's Coordinator (Debra Caron), attend planning committee meetings, contact local high schools, general office tasks, and help with coordinating the performances on the day of the Festival.

Hours: 3-4 hours/week from Oct. through the end of March, with significantly more hours in the month leading up to the Festival (February into early March)Peace Prize Festival Assistant.
